Raids Heaviest In Four Years

SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers destroyed or damaged more than 170 buildings Sunday at military camps in the heaviest raids on the Hanoi -Haiphong area in 4½ years, the U.S. Command announced today.

The command said that Air Force and Navy jets attacked 20 different targets in the Hanoi-Haiphong area, including three army barracks, the northeast rail line to China, railroad yards, supply barges, storage and fuel depots, and antiaircraft missile and artillery batteries.

It was the heaviest attack in the Hanoi-Haiphong area since March 1968, U.S. officials said.

North Vietnam claimed five American jets were shot down and some pilots captured. The U.S. Command made no mention of any plane losses.

Among the raids Sunday was the first attack of the war on the Xom Bai army barracks 37 miles northwest of Hanoi. Pilots said their bombs destroyed 13 barracks and 10 storage and support buildings, and damaged another 46 buildings.

The Xuan Mai military training complex 17 miles southwest of Hanoi and Hai Dong Barracks West, 23 miles northwest of Haiphong also were hit.

The U.S. Command confirmed a report from Washington that a Chinese minesweeper had slipped into Haiphong harbor despite the U.S. minefield laid last May. The Command said the sweeper has been in Haiphong about a week and is tied up next to a Chinese freighter. It said it was "not aware that any mines have been swept," and the Navy said the minesweeper had not attempted any clearing operations yet.

The Command said it had planted new mines "at various locations to cover areas not previously seeded."

The Navy said that the Chinese minesweeper was the only ship that had slipped into Haiphong, and none of the 27 ships there when the harbor was mined had left.

The U.S. Command announced that an American Air Force adviser was killed in South Vietnam Saturday when his small observation plane collided with a South Vietnamese jet near Que Son. A Vietnamese pilot with the American and the two Vietnamese in the jet were also killed.

In the ground war, North Vietnamese forces fought their way back into the district headquarters compound in Que Son Sunday night, but government troops were reported still holding other sections of the town.

The South Vietnamese were reported driven out of the military compound that was the district headquarters at dusk Sunday after a series of North Vietnamese artillery and mortar attacks and ground assaults. The compound is about the size of an average city block.

The heavy shelling attacks wounded at least 40 South Vietnamese troops, and helicopters trying to evacuate them were driven back by North Vietnamese antiaircraft guns ringing the town.

South Vietnamese rangers and infantrymen were reported trying to consolidate their positions at Que Son in an effort to hold the district capital. It fell to the North Vietnamese on Aug. 19, and the South Vietnamese recaptured it last Friday.

About 25 miles to the north, U.S. helicopter gunships apparently thwarted a rocket attack on Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city. Field reports said the helicopters attacked about 35 enemy troops carrying rockets about six miles south of the city. At least three of the North Vietnamese were reported killed.

Farther north, fighting was reported to have decreased sharply at Quang Tri. Field reports said less than 500 rounds of shellfire hit South Vietnamese positions Sunday, compared to between 1,500 and 2,000 rounds a day in the week before. There was no immediate explanation for the drop.

The Saigon Command claimed 54 North Vietnamese troops were killed in and around Quang Tri Sunday. It said eight government troops were killed and 34 wounded.

CHARLESTON -- Clayton Counts, 24, of Charleston attempted to hang himself with his belt in the Mississippi County jail Saturday night.

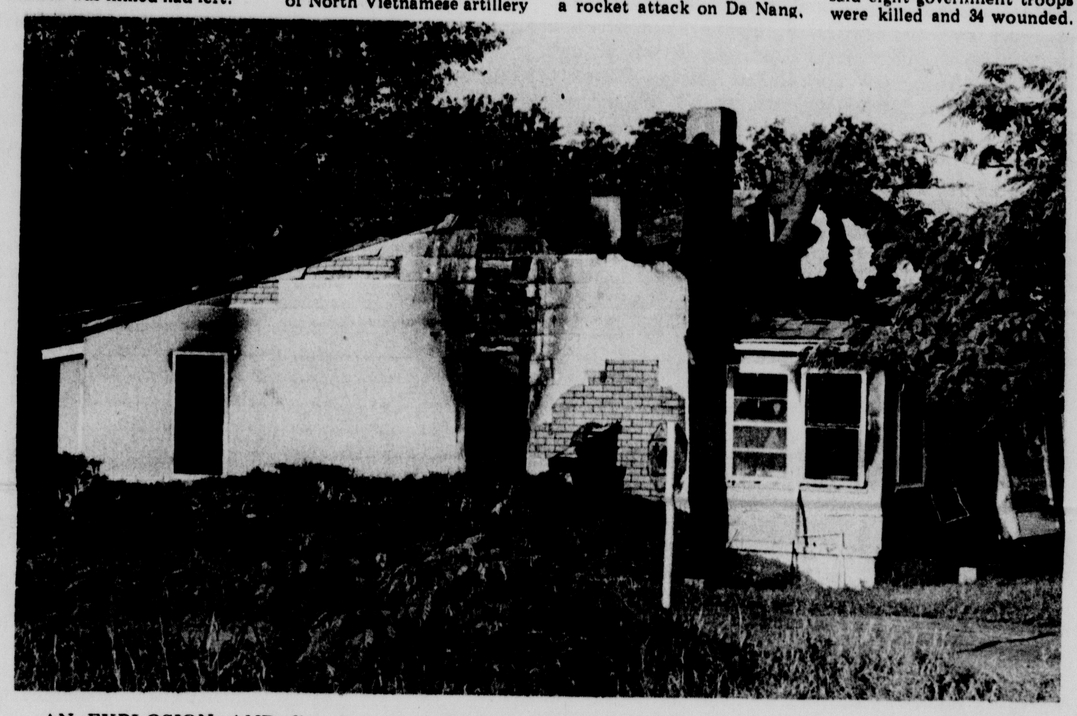

Counts, arrested at 6:42 p.m. Saturday by city police for public intoxication, was found hanging from a bar in his cell about 8:45 p.m. by jail trustee, Andrew Mays.

Mouth to mouth rescusitation and oxygen were administered and Counts was revived. He was find $25 and released in custody of his wife.

Counts is reportedly on five years parole from Kentucky.

Robert F. Chandler of Charleston was fined $25 for drinking and disturbing the peace and Gary Dale McDermott of Charleston was fined $22 on the same charge. Both men were arrested with Counts Saturday.

Also appearing in city court this morning were George Simmerman of Charleston, drunk and common assault, $25; Maksymilian Pazaszarar of Charleston, public intoxication and peace disturbance, $16; Patsy Anderson of Charleston, shoplifting at the P.N. AN EXPLOSION AND fire destroyed the home of Paul Oakley at 603 Ruth St. early this morning. Oakley had spent Sunday cleaning the house preparing to move in.

Explosion Destroys Home

Police and fire officials are investigating the cause of an explosion and fire that destroyed the home of Paul Oakley at 603 Ruth Street early this morning.

A fire early Sunday morning nearly took the life of Robert Green of 105 Luther Street.

An explosion at 1:15 a.m. blew out the front wall of the Oakley house. Oakley, 30, an assistant football coach and language arts teacher at Charleston High School, had just purchased the house. He had spent all day Sunday cleaning it in preparation for moving in.

Oakley was treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital at 2:55 a.m. for first, second, and third, degree burns of the hands, face, and forearms. He told police the burns were not connected with the explosion at his house. He said the stove at his brother's house in Charleston where he was staying exploded and burned him.

Green, fell asleep while smoking in bed and ignited the mattress with a cigarette. Police said Green apparently had been drinking.

Green's life was saved when he rolled out of bed after the mattress caught fire, according to police. A neighbor, who saw smoke coming from the house, pulled Green out of the room.

He was treated at the hospital for second degree burns of the right forearm, smoke inhalation, and an injury to the right elbow.

The fire was confined to the mattress.

Two Sought In Theft

Two young women are being sought by Sikeston police for stealing a billfold at noon Saturday from a purse of an employe of Shy's Drug Store in the Midtowner Village.

Lorene Limbaugh of 115 East Gladys told police that the two girls took $234 in checks and cash from her purse. She said one girl had blond hair the other dark. Both were wearing blue jeans.

The description matches that given for two girls being sought for similar robberies last week in Jackson, Cape Girardeau, and Chaffee.

Sikeston Man Dies In Crash

Seven persons were injured and a Sikeston man was killed in five separate highway accidents in the Bootheel during the weekend, according to reports issued by the highway patrol.

Richard Wayne Phelps, 20, of 205 Benton St. was dead at the scene of a two car mishap Saturday at 4:30 p.m. on Highway 114, two miles west of Sikeston. The accident occurred as Phelps attempted to pass a car driven by Lynn Boyd Criter, 43, of Morehouse. Patrol officials said Phelps failed to cut away from the other car soon enough, struck the Criter vehicle from behind and skidded off the roadway into a tree.

Phelps was born March 31, 1952 in Machinaw Island, Mich.

He was an employe of H & H Termite Control.

Survivors include his wife, Mary Alice of Sikeston; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Phelps, III, of Elizabethtown, Ky.; three brothers, John Phelps, with the U.S. Coast Guard in Hassen Island, Mich., and Gary and Geoffrey Phelps, both of Elizabethtown; five sisters, Mrs. Joanna Rhea of Shepherdsville, Ky., Mrs. Pat Denning of Elizabethtown, and Misses Susan, Rejean and Lona Phelps, all of Elizabethtown.

Services will be held Tuesday at 3 p.m. in the Nunnelee Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Ed Stepehenson officiating.

Burial will be in Dogwood Cemetery near Charleston.

In other area accidents, a one-car mishap Saturday occurred at 4 p.m. on Township Line Road, four miles east of Kennett. Harold Lloyd Lyell, 24, of Bragg City, drove his car off the roadway into a ditch. Lyell and a passenger, William Lee Gentry, 21, also of Bragg City, received minor injuries and were taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

At 7:15 p.m. Saturday on Highway 62 in Risco, David Sawyer, 19, of Risco was injured when the car in which he was a passenger was struck head on by a vehicle driven by Shirley Mosby, 19, of Gideon. Driver of the other car was Bonnie Presley, 20, of Risco. The patrol said Mosby was playing a game of "chicken" when her car collided with the Presley vehicle. Sawyer was taken to Malden Clinic, treated and released.

Two were injured in another one-car accident Saturday at 9 a.m. on Route E, six miles east of Perryville. John William Dover, 40, of Perryville, lost control of his car on a curve, ran off the roadway, struck an embankment and overturned. He received cuts on his forehead, and a passenger, George Byron Dover, 17, also of Perryville received minor injuries. Both were taken to Perry County Hospital.

Two pedestrians were struck by a car and injured Sunday at 8 p.m. in Ripley County on Highway 160, three miles west of Doniphan. Driver of the car was Lawrence Earl Kelly, 60, of Doniphan. Injured were Mrs. Dorothy Dyson, 46, and her daughter, Tony, 5 both of Doniphan. Kelly swerved to avoid hitting a dog and struck the two. Mrs. Dyson sustained back and hip injuries and scratches. The child received a broken collar bone, scratches and cuts on the arm. They were taken to Ripley County Hospital in Doniphan.

APPROXIMATELY 350 persons attended the open house Sunday of the new city hall at Charleston. Cutting the ribbon is Mayor Charles Williams. THE SICK (?) SOCIETY

Gloom purveyors love to call the United States the "sick" society. Because the U. S. fails to measure up to their utopian standards, they claim that revolutionary changes are necessary. Hardly ever do they mention some of the benefits of living in this nation.

We have the highest living standard in the world. Our national income equals that of the next six highest nations combined. While half of the world subsists on $100 per capita income a year, the U. S. enjoys an average of $3600. Even the highly developed West European nations have per capita incomes of only about $1600. Russians, living in an alleged "workers' paradise," average $800 a year.

A mere six per cent of the world's population lives in the U.S. Yet, it graduates as many from high school as all the nations in the world combined. We also have more college graduates than the total of all the other nations.

Professional pessimists often cite the number of American poor, some 15 per cent of our population. But if 15 per cent are poor, 85 per cent are not poor. Most countries would be pleased if they had such low poverty figures. Many Americans, however, make a point of always looking at the negative side.

Adherents to the sick society myth believe that the good life cannot be measured in material terms alone. They are correct. The U. S. allows more personal freedom than any other nation. An American can freely travel from New York to Los Angeles. There are no commissars to check papers at state lines, and our high standard of living has given most Americans enough wealth and leisure time to afford the trip.

Under our capitalist system, any citizen can start the enterprise he wants. He has a free market in which to dispose of his product. Besides the freedom to work where he wants, an American can worship where he chooses, travel where he pleases and write what he wants. We have no state regulations against personal freedoms. Perhaps those who call this a sick society are sick.

The American public has been exposed to the seamy-side of politics which forced Sen. Thomas Eagleton to step down after his nomination as the Democratic vice president candidate. The after-thoughts of party leaders when it was disclosed that Eagleton had been hospitalized previously for physical exhaustion, including psychiatric treatment, were overplayed especially by the television coverage and by the networks' commentators.

Also, we aren't particularly happy with Jack Anderson, whose syndicated column appears in The Standard, for his radio story citing that Eagleton has been cited for drunken and reckless driving. He has issued a full retraction and apologized, but that doesn't undo a sloppy, inaccurate job of character assassination. At least, we are thankful that this untrue charge never was included in his column for publication in The Standard. The fact is that we have considered dropping the Anderson column and, if it were't for a few avid readers of Washington Merry-go-round, we would have long ago.

Since those of us who have responsibilities for the editing of The Standard have an increasing distrust of Anderson's column, we would appreciate hearing from our readers before we make a final decision.

TO DEFENSE OF FOUR-LETTER WORDS

This item was reprinted in Catholic Quote recently, and it bears repeating ...

In recent years the expression "four-letter word" has suffered because of a crude, salacious and suggestive connotation. As a result, every four-letter word, although catalogued in the standard dictionary, will be a little bit ashamed, unless we rally to its defense. The good, beautiful and challenging four-letter words far outnumber the small rubbish pile of unworthy ones. Let's start with an alphabet of noble four-letter words, such as:

Aged -- All hail! They have fought the good fight.

Baby -- God's mystery with man and man's love for his wife.

Cool -- The well-balanced man never loses his.

Dare -- Genuine success is the result of this.

Earn -- How all earthly and eternal goals are attained.

Fair -- Being this wins true respect.

Give -- Real happiness comes when we do this.

Help -- True charity is bearing one another's burdens.

Idea -- The beginning of anything worthwhile.

Join -- No man is an island.

Kind -- Life is too short for anything else.

Love -- It makes the world go 'round.

More -- Great things are achieved by doing this.

News -- It lightens the heart when it's good.

Open -- When one's mind is -- prejudice vanishes.

Pray -- It keeps the lines open between God and us.

Quit -- A wise man knows when to.

Read -- When selective it makes for a well - developed intellect.

Sing -- It keeps the soul in harmony with life.

Tact -- It spares one the scars of soul and body.

Urge -- The Magic which brings out the best in many.

Vote -- Your privilege and duty in a free society.

Will -- The marrow of a healthy back-bone.

X-ray -- The savior of many a twenthieth century life.

Yoke -- So light when we understand the purpose of life.

Zeal -- The fire that burns up the league.

So here you are! It's just a start. Now see how many more you can add for the glorification of the four-letter word.

What is an advertising hitchhiker?

The manager of a department store in a small city recently identified an advertising hitchhiker as a merchant who exists on the advertising of his fellow retailers.

"For instance, a couple of clothing shops adjoining my store do a scant survival trade by hitchhiking on our advertising. Their business consists mainly of incidental purchases made by customers which our advertising draws to that side of the block.

"Strangely enough, both of the stores carry good lines and maintain low prices. We don't begrudge them the free ride, but we do think they are foolish. Even a small amount of advertising would bring some primary shopping to their stores. The increase in traffic would help us as well as themselves."

The retail executive added that every community had a large number of advertising hitchhikers. He said that the typical advertising hitchhiker did not realize that he was taking a ride on the promotional efforts of other merchants.

"The non-advertiser seems to think that a trade center is created by an act of God and that shoppers drift into a store by a process of osmosis. They can't understand the fact that activity in a trade center is a reflection of the combined advertising effort of all progressive retailers."

Like other hitchhikers, the advertising hitchhiker may be identified in most communities as an enterprise which has been by passed by prosperity -- and, too often, here today and gone tomorrow. Perhaps it is just as well. The merchant who can not understand that consistent investment in promotion helps his business and the whole community, may not deserve a full share of prosperity.

WAITING FOR PERON

In 1955, Juan D. Peron was ousted as Argentina's dictator by the armed forces and allowed to flee into exile. His 10-year reign earned him the reputation of a tyrant, torturer and thief. But at 76, Peron still is a powerful force in Argentine politics and a potential candidate in the presidential election scheduled for next March. The Justicialista Party, founded by Peron, already has nominated him as its candidate. If the election is held, the country will return to civilian rule for the first time since a military junta deposed civilian President Arturo Illia in June 1966.

Gen. Alejandro Lanusse, head of Argentina's military government since 1971 and also a possible candidate for the presidency, has declared that the government will not interfere if Peron wishes to return. Lanusse recognizes the need for the cooperation of the Peronists, who still control Argentina's powerful labor movement and a third of the electorate, if he is to return the country to constitutional government. Peron's chief spokesman, Hector J. Campora, announced in Madrid that Peron would return to Argentina before the end of the year, but apparently not before the Friday, Aug. 25 residency deadline set by Lanusse for all candidates for the 1973 election.

Despite his 17-year exile, Peron remains a folk hero to the working - class people who benefitted most from his policies. Part of his continuing appeal stems from nostalgia for the days when he first came to power following World War II. The treasury was then bulging from wartime sales of beef and grain. But by the time he was ousted a decade later, the nation was nearly bankrupt and it has yet to recover. Inflation is rampant. The cost of living has increased by 60 per cent since the first of the year, compared with 40 per cent for all of last year. Unemployment now totals 8 per cent and the country faces a huge balance - of-payments deficit.

Gen. Lanusse has refused to adopt stringent anti-inflationary measures which would be unpopular with the electorate. A 15 per cent wage increase announced in January and another which took effect June 1 only aggravated the problem. Even if Peron does return, many observers think his charismatic appeal to the working masses would slip away under the turbulent political and economic conditions of his homeland.

Over 2,000 years ago, the Roman orator Cicero listed what he considered man's five most common and serious mistakes. His list still seems timely today. Mankind erred, Cicero said, by:

1. The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others;

2. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected;

3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we cannot accomplish it;

4. Refusing to set aside trivial preferences, and

5. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind, as a result of not acquiring the habit of reading and studying.

The Coyote Vote

Barry Goldwater's denigration of the coyote is not only uniformed but unworthy of a United States Senator. Indeed, we would anticipate a severe backlash. In his speech to the Republican National Convention at Miami Beach, Senator Goldwater compared complaining Democrats to coyotes which "just sit and bay and moan and cry at the moon." These Democrats "never suggest anything new, anything better or anything constructive. They just wait like the coyotes until they can tear something down or destroy a part of America."

There are a lot of coyotes in Arizona where Mr. Goldwater hails from, and there are those who love them, too. We have heard Mr. Goldwater expound on Arizona history and he is quite good; but he doesn't know coyotes. They are not as destructive as they were once thought to be, and they serve many useful purposes. They mate for life, which is admirable, and are good parents. Moreover, like the groundhog, they have survived the encroachments of civilization. They do indeed serenade the night skies, but is that bad? Somehow we have a feeling Mr. Goldwater is out of touch with reality (or has that been noted before?)

AGRICULTURAL DICTATORSHIP

A massive battle to organize farm workers is being waged across the United States. The commodity boycott is the weapon used. Mr. Tom Richardson, a spokesman and farm labor specialist for the California Farm Bureau, warns that boycotts threaten consumers' free choice in the marketplace. He also warns that farm workers are being dragooned into unions without elections of any kind and that farmers must sign away the freedom of workers under threat of bankruptcy when they can't move boycotted crops to market.

If farm worker organizing efforts continue along the lines established in the case of the grape workers, a new kind of oppression will have arisen in the United States. Mr. Richardson points out that farm labor contracts forced on producers in California hold such provisions as the following: "No elections for workers are provided, and no options for growers. All labor is assigned from a union hiring hall. The union determines eligibility for employement -- in effect hires and fires at its own discretion. The union contract stays with the farm for the life of its tenure. It goes with the lease, rental, sale, transfer, or even inheritance of the farm property. The union ... reserves the right to withdraw field hands at its own discretion. It assumes the right of access to farm property and to farmers' marketing and financial information -- however confidential or competitive."

The only conclusion that can be reached from the present trend in farm labor organizing efforts is that the ultimate goal of agricultural unions is the control of every farm and farmer in the land -- and the food supply of over 200 million consumers!!!

THE RIGHT DECISION

A sign salesman was driving past a service station in Phoenix, Arizona, that was plastered with placards. He stopped and counted 117 individual signs. He went inside and persuaded the owner to replace all those ugly screamers with one, well-designed, illuminated sign.

The owner reports that the new sign made such an impression that motorists thought it was a new station. In the first week after the sign went up, business increased 90%.

May Not Be on Ballot

Because of a technicality, the Conservation amendment may not be on the ballot in November. So far, it has not been approved, but its backers who worked so hard to get sufficient signatures, are to take the matter to the courts, in the hope that they will order it placed on the November ballot.

The amendment would place a 1c levy on bottled soft drinks, the money to be used for all types of conservation purposes, most of it for buying and preserving land in its natural state.

If it goes on the ballot, the chances are it will be approved, even though it does have strong opposition from the soft drink industry and some other groups.

CONSTRUCTIVE WORDS

Education, including academic, technical, public affairs education and self-education, deserves encouragement and support of very constructive citizen. Never in the history of man has a people given of its time, its interest and its treasure for the education and the future of its descendants as have the people of our country. Until very recently, the physical and material facilities of educational establishments, especially public education, were generally inadequate and poor, or at least they would be tought so by many.

No matter how primitive the buildings and the equipment, however, graduates of those early schools could read well, write good English sentences and spell. A look at the school buildings of that day and of the rather basic and abbreviated education of the teachers of those days cannot explain why students today finish high school still unable to read ,write or spell.

Reviewing some of the educational materials of the old days might be more helpful. One example is the "Elementary Spelling Book" published in 1880 and 1908, based on Noah Webster's "American Spelling Book." It is not a glamorous little book in appearance but it is solid good sense. Spelling does not come easy or automatically for most. It requires mental effort and drill. This is provided. In addition, examples of usage of words abound and the examples teach the pupils to be a good person and citizen.

Some examples of the maxims, not often found in later textbooks: "Men devoted to mere amusement misemploy their time." "Worldy men make it their primary object to please themselves; duty holds but a secondary place in their esteem." "Strong drink leads to the debasement both of the mind and the body." Modernists who have been taught to sneer at such sentiments will not understand how they could produce good citizens who can read and write and spell. Others know that constructive words help make constructive citizens. HLH

Party at Convention: Nixon Plans to Tour Rockefeller for Labor Vote

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON -- There's just no real McGovern money around. And I refer not to the candidate's campaign chest but to the bookies in London, New York and Las Vegas. The odds, in virtually all books but one, are as lopsided as the inside of Pisa's leaning tower.

There is, however, one political scientist who has decided that Ricard Richard Nixon must run scared -- and that's Richard Nixon.

This was evident after a flying visit to Miami Beach, where the moon for a moment must have been shrouded in tear gas. The in-and-out hegira got me to the party on time. And out of the line of fire. The gathering Wednesday, during the hours before the President "accepted" the nomination, went unnoticed, though it should not escape the history books.

It was a gay affair, well sponsored by Nelson A. Rockefeller who is known not be short of petty cash -- a description which well fitted his 200 guests. They were the labor leaders who are willing to stand up and be counted as Republicans -- something which prominent union chiefs haven't done since the days of Herbert Hoover, with a slight deviation during the Tom Dewey and Dwight Eisenhower campaigns.

Strangely enough, of the hundreds of festivities, this stand-up drink and hor d'oeuvres gathing in the Promenade Room of the sandbagged Hotel Doral was of most special interest to President Nixon. He's an old labor hand and he now knows that he needs more than the fingers on both hands to tally off Sen. George McGovern's labor support as has been evident in the capital these past few days.

McGovern has some 33 national union endorsements (representing 7.6 million members). The Dakotan has, in fact, a majority on the AFL-CIO Executive Council. Of the 35 members, at least 15 are openly for the McGovern-Shriver slate; 5 are ardent Democrats but were angered by McGovern's hyperthyroid young strategists; and 1, the 400,000 — member Service Employees' George Hardy, soon will endorse him.

And there are the coal diggers. They may hate one another but they come out of the patches to vote Democratic - and they are sufficiently concentrated to swing some states.

So the President and his right hand, meaning Charles "Chuck" Colson who holed up in the Doral, are rallying their labor legions which are thinner than expected. But sturdy. They showed at the Gov. Rockefeller party-- not only the Teamsters' Frank Fitzsimmons, but the newly mod, long hair and all, Ray Corbett, chief of the 2.2 million New York State AFL-CIO Federation; Harold Pryor of the United Transportation Union; the Iron Workers' Jack Lyons, now virtually George Meany's constant companion, and others in the construction trades.

It all went so well that word spread that Rocky was the best labor organizer the President had. Since Gov. Rockefeller already had been tapped to be one of the President's "surrogate speakers," he will be asked to hit the road to rally labor leaders everywhere. He probably will accept.

Rarely has a convention social been so well planned--even special Presidential assistant on narcotics, Myles Ambrose, was there. Drugs have begun seeping into the big plants and Myles has become a popular fellow at gatherings of labor men who now are uptight on the threatening dope epidemic. Of course, there was Secretary of Labor Jim Hodgson who helped run a party Tuesday evening aboard a yacht which would not lose stature by heaving into St. Tropez.

Invitations to the leaders were telephoned by Assistant Secretary of Labor Bill Usery and a good time was had by all. Chuck Colson came out of his seventh floor warren to mix at Rocky's. And so did campaign manager Clark MacGregor.

It was really Chuck who saw to it that nothing went into the Republican platform which might turn off these labor chaps, especially Fitzsimmons. And it was the White House communications' section's Ken Clawson who whipped up some handy words for Fitz to issue.

Of course, word was flashed that White House domestic council chief John Ehrlichman had twisted arms to prevent a right-to-work plank or compulsory arbitration section to be written into the platform.

It was the President who kept atop all this, just as he had decided to send a telegram to Joe Tonelli, now president of the newest, merged big labor organization, the United Paper Workers International Union, which covers a field employing more than steel and auto do. Tonelli is swift-moving, articulate, and would make an impressive campaigner, though not yet in the national AFL-CIO top leadership echelon. The President spotted Tonelli and has asked that he be brought along to breakfast at the White House after Labor day.

As usual, the labor by-play got little play from the typewriter and tube brigades. But to the President and Chuck Colson, labor is one of the few make-or-break fronts second perhaps only to the youth. And McGovern is swinging in on both with far more strength than that political scientists Dick Nixon is contemplating calmly. So he is running scared.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON -- The mysterious $25,000 that apparently helped finance the bugging incident at the Democratic national headquarters has now been traced to Hubert Humphrey's biggest financial backer, soybean oil tycoon Dwayne Andreas.

Andreas delivered the cash, according to secret sworn testimony, to President Nixon's chief fund raiser in the Midwest, Kenneth Dahlerg. Both men are Minneapolis millionaires.

The testimony was taken from Dahlberg in Miami by State's Attorney Richard Gerstein, who is investigating alleged violations of Florida laws in the bizarre case.

Under oath, Dahlberg also admitted that he didn't pick up the cash from Andreas until April 9, two days after the new campaign reporting law went into effect. The law requires a public accounting of political contributions, but the $25,000 was never reported.

Dahlberg testified that he flew into Miami on April 8th and met Andreas in his penthouse at the fashionable Seaview Hotel. The hotel's safety deposit box, however, was closed for the night.

The next day, Andreas withdrew $25,000 in cash from the saftey deposit box and gave it to Dahlberg, according to the sworn testimony. Dahlberg converted the money on April 10 into a cashier's check drawn on the First Bank and Trust Company of Boca Raton, Fla.

STANS GOT IT

He handed the check to Maurice Stans, the top fund raiser for the Nixon campaign, on April 11th at a Republican meeting at the Washington Hilton Hotel.

The $25,000 check later turned up in the bank account of Bernard Barker, a former CIA undercover man, who recruited a Mission Impossible team allegedly to bug the Democratic premises. Some of them had been involved in the Bay of Piegs fiasco with Barker, who is unknown to the CIA by the code name "Mancho."

In the early morning hours of June 17, five men, including Barker, were arrested at gun point inside the Democratic office complex at the Watergate Towers. They were wearing rubber surgical gloves and carrying electronic eavesdropping devices.

They were also caught with $5,300 in crisp new $100 bills, a couple of address books listing a White house contact and a walkie-talkie tuned to a special GOP security frequency.

DIFFERENT TALE

Dahlberg's sworn testimony, identifying Andreas as the source of the $25,000 differs from his statement to federal auditors who are investigating whether the new campaigns finance law has been violated.

He told them, according to an investigator, that he had collected the $25,000 from various sources before the campaign reporting law went into effect. But under oath, in Miami, he admitted the money had been turned over to him by Andreas two days after the deadline.

In his opinion, he testified, Andreas had no knowledge of how his money was used. We tried repeatedly to reach both Andreas and Dahlberg but neither returned our calls.

Maurice Stans, whose sworn testimony was also taken in Miami, claimed he passed the $25,00 cashier's check along to Hugh W. Sloan, Jr., the former campaign treasurer. Stans said he had no idea what Sloan did with the check or how it ended up in Barker's bank account.

Footnote: With only chief investigator Martin Dardis assigned to the case, Gerstein is ahead of the FBI in tracking down some of the bizarre details of the Watergate caper. Not only FBI agents, but congressional investigators have come to Gerstein for information.

'FACING AN EMERGENCY'

Money is pouring in for President Nixon's re-election campaign, but Republican Congressional fund raisers are finding the going rough.

The result is that the Republican Congressional Committee is making its appeals for money sound as desperate as possible.

Its latest appeal says GOP congressmen are "facing an emergency. We are out of funds for incumbent Republican congressmen. They are begging for funds. . . The Radicals — Liberals are joining forces to defeat them."

To make sure that prospective donors don't throw away the appeal without opening it, the GOP has put it in a highly official-looking brown manila envelope.

Instead of; the Republican Congressional Committee, the envelope is marked with the return address of the "U.S. House of Representatives." Thus it appears to be an official communication from the entire House rather than just one party's plea for cash.

Asks For Opinion On Tuition Law

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Rep. Vic Downing, DBragg City, has asked Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth for an opinion on the legality of a 1972 law providing tuition grants up to $900 for needy students at teither public or private colleges.

Downing said he voted against the bill in the 1972 regular session because he thought it was unconstitutional. He requested a formal opinion from the attorney general so he would know how to vote when an appropriatvon to fund the bill comes up.

He indicated he also wanted legal advice so he could draft new legislation in this field.

Downing noted that the Constitution bars the legislature from granting any money for religious purposes or from appropriating funds to individuals.

He also noted that the wording of the bill might make it possible for students attending private or religious colleges to get higher payments than those enrolled in public colleges and universities.

He said it is important for administrators and universities.

He said it is important for administrators of colleges, both public and church related, to know what the legal status of the bill is so they can act responsibly.

LBJ Turns 64

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson marked his 64th birthday with a quiet day at the LBJ Ranch.

A spokesman said that Johnson and his wife, Lady Bird, spent Sunday at the ranchhouse with no special festivities planned.

State Democratic Candidates To Join Eagleton

State Rep. Jim Spain, Democratic candidate for Attorney General, will accompany Sen. Thomas Eagleton during his Southeast Missouri political tour Wednesday and Thursday. They will be in Sikeston Thursday to attend a luncheon with civil leaders.

Expected to join the tour are Democrats Ed Dowd, candidate for Governor; Jack Schramm, candidate for Lieutenant Governor; Jim Kirkpatrick, candidate for Secretary of State and James Spainhower, candidate for Treasurer.

The tour will begin at 10:30 a.m. in Perryville with the dedication of the new section of I-55. Sen. Eagleton will address a noon meeting of the Lions Club in Cape Girardeau after which they will stop in Chaffee for a 3 p.m. coffee and wind up in Charleston for a fish fry at 6 p.m.

Thursday, Sen. Eagleton and the five candidates will visit five area cities. Included are Kennett for a breakfast with civic leaders at 8 a.m. and a coffee at Caruthersville at 10 a.m. After the luncheon in Sikeston, they will go to Dexter for a watermelon feed at 4 p.m., and at 7 p.m. Sen. Eagleton will be keynote speaker for the St. Francois County Democratic dinner at Farmington.

Nairobi, Kenya's mile-high capital of 350,000 population, is one of Africa's biggest cities.

Ask Audit Of McGovern Books

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying the results could be "very revealing," President Nixon's finance committee has asked congressional investigators to audit Sen. George McGovern's fund-raising records as closely as they did the Republicans'.

"There must be no reluctance on the part of the General Accounting Office to pursue as vigorously with Sen. McGovern's staff the kind of investigation it has with the Finance Committee," committee chairman Maurice Stans said Sunday.

"We will anticipate a report equally extensive," he said, adding that the GOP has "reason to believe (the Democratic accounts) will be very revealing."

The former Commerce secretary's four-page statement, distribued by Nixon's official Committee for the Re-election of the President, charged that the GAO report was a sloppy, politically motivated job.

"It is apparent that the strong and persistent pressures placed on the GAO by Democratic members of the Congress are responsible to a high degree for the inaccuracies in the report," Stans said.

John Connally, former Treasury secretary who's heading up the Democrats for Nixon drive, said on ABC's Issues and Answers program that the GAO report is a "nettlesome thing."

"I don't think it is going to be a major issue, anything of that kind," the former Texas governor and Lyndon B. Johnson protege said, "but I think it obviously doesn't help."

Elsewhere, President Nixon entertained 400 movie stars and directors at a poolside party at San Clemeote, Calif.

Today he was scheduled to get a progress report from Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird on plans for an all-volunteer Army by mid-1973, and counsel on the next announcement on Vietnam troop withdrawals.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, appearing on NBC's Meet the Press, had harsh words for Democratic opponents and newsmen who criticize U.S. bombing of North Vietnam but make no mention of Hanoi's shelling of South Vietnamese cities.

Brushing aside questions about his political ambitions in 1976, Agnew said he has softened his rhetoric and dropped "radical-liberal" from his vocabulary, but will continue to attack what he called McGovern's "unbelievable" statements.

McGovern, fresh from a quiet weekend with his family in Washington, scheduled a light day today in preparation for what has been billed as a major speech on employment and taxes in New York Tuesday.

His running mate, Sargent Shriver, spent the weekend relaxing, sailing and consulting with advisers at the family's Cape Cod, Mass., estate.

He threw away this week's schedule, except for a Detroit trip Monday night and Tuesday morning, to return to Washington for intensive campaign strategy talks.

Slight Improvement Shown By Economy Indicators

WASHINGTON (AP) — An index of leading indicators, which the government watches for signs of movement in the economy, increased seventenths of one per cent in July, a slight improvement over June.

Economists look to the index to get a general idea of broad movements in the economy rather than to measure precisely how the economy will perform.

"The leading indicators are continuing to signal further economic expansion in the months ahead," Asst. Secretary of Commerce Harold C. Passer said as his department released the July figures.

At the same time, the department revised slightly upward the figures for March, April, May and June. The 4.3 per cent gain in the index for this year's second quarter was the second largest in more than a decade.

With the July figures, the index rose to 143.6. The index was fixed at 100 for 1967.

What's The Law?

The Case Of The Rejected Ape Man

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

To insure that no one made a monkey out of Adam, a state law made it a punishable offense to teach that mankind descended or ascended from a lower form of animal. And because of the punishment prescribed, Ella's high-school teacher refused to instruct on those portions of the curriculum devoted to evolution.

Feeling that their daughter was being depreived of a full, proper and scientific education, Ella's parents went to court where they demanded an injunction against the enforcement of the antievolution statue.

"The men who passed that statute," they complained, "are obviously exceptions to the evolutionary principle of survival of the fittest. Because by the enforcement of the statute, they seek to restrict scientific learning in facor of religion dogman."

"A state has the right to prescribe the curriculum for its public schools," was the answer. "And that includes the exclusion of any theory it deems not in the public interest. As far as we're concerned, the best thing to do about evolution is to try and live it down."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you uphold the validity of the antievolution statue?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that while a state has the right to prescribe the cirriculum for its public schools, it may not prohibit the teaching of a scientific theory or doctrine where that prohibition is based upon reasons that violate provisions of the constitution. In this case, concluded the judge, the purpose of the antievolution statute is to establish a religious doctrine in schools as to the origin of man. It violates the freedom of religion mandate of the first amendment.

Peking Temple Becomes Park For Common People

PEKING (AP) — The awesome distance between the Chinas of yesterday and today is keenly felt at the mystic Altar of Heaven, in the southern suburbs of Peking.

From its triple terrace of carved marble the emperors of two dynasties and 500 years conversed twice a year with the heaven under whose mandate they ruled.

With sacrifices at summer and winter solstices, each emperor confirmed himself as the sole intermediary between heaven and the world at large. It was the concept of Imperial China that all power and therefore all good came from a nonpersonal heaven and was transmitted solely through the emperor.

The Temple of Heaven was the architectural platform on which the mystical structure of imperial power and government rested.

Today the temple, built to raise the emperor above the common world, has become a park for the common people.

Visitors don't seem to stand in awe of the superhuman powers and position of the emperors of old China. All that's left is an architectural masterpiece, built during the early decades of the Ming Dynasty in the 15th century and kept in repair up to now.

Among the wonders of the temple's architecture is the Hall of Prayers with proportions that correspond to old Chinese cosmology, rising to a triple roof with Prussian-blue tiles and topped by a golden lotus bud. Inside are tablets denoting dead emperors.

A long marble path leads south toward a circular walled enclosure with a round building, where the sacred tablets were kept. It has a famous whispering wall — prayers spoken along the wall could be heard around the whole compound. In the old days the temple was barred to all common folk. On the eve of the solstice the emperor was borne in a yellow sedan chair, curtained off with blue cloth, through empty Peking streets. The emperor spent the night at the Hall of Abstinence and on the following morning ascended the Altar of Heaven for awesome ceremonies. Knocking his head nine times on the marble while crouching on echoing stones, he talked to Heaven. Today this center stone has become a spot where Chinese tourists stamp their feet and clap hands or raise loud hellos to try out the echoing stone. They hear few good things about this relic except that only the ingenuity, hard work and artistry of the common workers made it possible for the emperors to build this stepping stone to heaven.

Boys Pinch Secretaries For Pastime

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Secretaries and other female workers in Kansas City, Kan., weren't taking too kindly to a pastime pursued by an increasing number of boys--pinching secretaries and female workers.

Police Chief John J. Donnelly, acting on the vehement protests lodged by the women, dispatched officers dressed in street clothes to the Center City Plaza Mall this week to watch for the acitivity. Several youths from 10 to 15 years old were arrested and charged with harassing and bothering young women.

Mrs. Ronald Menz

Menz-Lumsden

MATTHEWS — Wedding vows were exchanged by Ruth Ann Lumsden and Ronald Clay Menz July 30 at 7 p.m. with the Rev. Clyde McCullum officiating at the double ring ceremony in the Christian Church.

Pink Roses and white stocks decorated the church and pews were decorated with sprays of fern tied with pink satin ribbon.

Mrs. John Lett of Sikeston, organist, played a medley of wedding selections before the ceremony and accompanied Mrs. R. L. Richards as she sang "We've Only Just Begun," and the "Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lumsden of Matthews and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Menz of Chicago, Ill.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white silk organza fashioned with a high neckline, long full sleeves and an A-line skirt. Tiny Venise lace enhanced the bodice and extended onto the skirt. A detachable Watteau chapel train flowed from the back waistline and was entirely edged with the Venise trim.

A headpiece of Venise lace and organza held her short bouffant veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink cymbidium orchids, pink roses and baby's breath.

Miss Martha Jo Spalding, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Laura Lumsden of Dexter was flower girl. They wore pink dotted swiss dresses with pink headpieces made of Venise lace and pink ribbon. The bridesmaid carried a nosegay of pink roses and miniature carnations.

Reggie Stotts of Sikeston was best man. Russell Wissman, cousin of the bride, and David Richards, were ushers. Candlelighters were Douglas Scott and Mark Silverthorn. Gary Silverthorn was ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a two piece silk linen dress with a lace jacket and matching accessories an a white cymbidium orchid.

The groom's grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Herring of Bertrand, wore a pink silk dress with a white cymbidium orchid.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church dining room. Serving were Mrs. Vincent Wissman, Mrs. Homer Spradling and Mrs. Joe Spradling, all aunts of the bride; also Mrs. Dan Ford of Sikeston and Mrs. Stanley Lumsden of Dexter.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Matthews High School and of a business school in Cape Girardeau. She was an employe of the Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston before her marriage. The groom is a graduate of a Chicago, Ill. high school and has served three and one half years in the army.

After a short honeymoon to Kentucky Lake they will be at home at 2641 N. Fairfield Ave. in Chicago.

Bridal showers were given July 14 by Mrs. David Croom and July 14 by the Christian Womens Fellowship.

Woman Drives In Demolition Derby

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Human Rights Commission says Connie Williams, 22, Mexico, can drive in a demolition derby in Mexico, Mo., Saturday night.

And, Clyde Scott, chairman of the commission, said today, state law says any other woman can drive in the car smasher event.

The commission did not rule on whether the derby is classified as employment, but agreed that Mrs. Williams, mother of a 3-year-old girl, is covered by state laws against discrimination.

"I finally made it," Mrs. Williams said today. "My husband has driven in it for two years and he seemed to enjoy it, so I thought I'd try it."

"My husband is behind me 100 per cent," she said. "He's never been hurt and sees no reason why I can't compete."

"The prooters said their insurance wouldn't cover women," she said.

She wrote the commission, saying, "Sex is the only reason I am denied the right of entry."

She will drive a 1963 Buick. In the event, the drivers ram their cars into each other and the last car able to move is the winner.

Medieval Fair Held In Upper Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP) — The jousting is over and all fair maidens in distress have been rescued by their sturdy knights, but the memories for thousands of youngsters and a few of their elders linger on.

Memories of the second annual Medieval Fair and Festival in upper Manhattan.

The mid-August event capped the Summer Medieval Crafts Workshop Program conducted for city youngsters by the Cloisters, the Metropolitan Museum's branch of medieval art.

Running from late morning to late afternoon, the fair included games, entertainment, costumes of the period, troubadors and dances.

Young Festival Workshop members performed, and the scene was enlivened by the cavorting of a unicorn, puppet shows, and wares of the era displayed in the market place.

In mock battle, the "good guys" in shining armor always won—and were rewarded with a kiss from a damsel.

The cost of the workshop and festival were shared by the Cloisters, the Neighborhood Action Program for Washington Heights and Inwood, Community School District 6, the Upper Manhattan Artists cooperative, and the New York State Council on the arts.

Big Girlfriend Goes Topless

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Her boyfriend told her she didn't have the guts to audition for a position as a topless go-go dancer.

So Susan Foust, who weights 309 and measures 54-46-59, took up the challenge.

She was hired on the spot by Gale Alberts, manager of a local cafe, who explained: "The crowd just stared."

Now Miss Foust, under the stage name Bertha, does her act nightly on the cafe's mirrored stage.

Miss Black America Gives Up Title

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Linda Barney is the new Miss Black America but only because Diane Jackson didn't want the title.

Miss Jackson, 22, of Los Angeles was crowned before a Hollywood Palladium crowd of 700 Saturday night and promptly announced she was giving up the title to accept a singing contract.

She turned and placed the crown on the head of the 19year-old New Jersey pre-medical student, first runner-up in the contest that drew black beauties from 36 states.

J. Morris Anderson, producer of the five-year-old festival, said later that Miss Jackson's action was "not spur of the moment." He said others had influenced her, seeking to harm the event.

Anderson would not elaborate but said he was consulting with attorneys and planned to meet with newsmen later this week.

Ann Landers

Former Dope Addict Finds His Way Out

Dear Ann Landers: I would appreciate the opportunity to reply to the Texas M. D. who made the statement that "scientific evidence actually favors no bra." As a gynecologist I have seen and read of many cases of women who never wore bras. Do you know what they look like. Their breasts are flat. Very flat. The Cooper's ligament, unassisted, is not able to support the weight of the average breast. This condition is called "Cooper's Droop."

Ann, please tell your women readers that going without a bra may give them a feeling of liberation but it will result in sagging breasts. Almost everyone has seen films of tribal African women which are conclusive evidence. The females have never worn bras and they all have Cooper's Droop. I hope you will print my letter so your readers will know that the El Paso physician does not have the support of all members of the medical profession. I am a — New York M. D.

Dear Doc: You have demonstrated the wisdom of obtaining a second opinion. Your word of warning may well have rescued a whole generation of potential Super -Duper -Cooper -Droopers.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read that letter in your column from the guy who fell through a skylight while tripping. My story is similar, except I started with pills. From pills I went to smoking dope. This lasted for about six months. Then I decided to drop acid for a bigger belt.

My first trip was a brute. It was everything I'd ever heard it would be. I could hardly wait to try again. That second trip was the granddaddy of all bummers. Man was I spaced out! I begged my pals to take me to a hospital but they said I'd get asked a lot of questions and everybody would be in trouble. I went into a rage, crying and screaming and breaking up furniture. One sweet kid approached me to straighten my head out. I hit her full in the mouth. That convinced them to call my parents. I just couldn't face mom and pop. So I tried to kill myself by slashing my throat with a broken bottle. Crazy? You'd better believe it. I was on acid, librium, aspirin, antibiotics, pot and booze.

My folks went through hell on account of me. I was really rotten to them. They took me to a private place for teenage junkies and it cost them their life's savings. But they were really wonderful.

All this happened eight months ago and today I feel like a new person. I know now I was screwed up and stupid. I wouldn't go near a joint or a pill, let alone a sugar cube, for anything in the world. I am one of those people who shouldn't mess around with anything that will change the chemistry of my body. Even a glass of beer is off limits for me.

God gave me a second chance that some heads don't get. I'm going to spend the rest of my life helping kids who are goofed up on drugs and prove to God that I was worth saving.

Please print my letter so others who are in a bad way will know that they can make it back. If I did, anybody can. — Garden City Joe

Dear Joe: Welcome home. You've told a story that only a person who has lived through it could tell. Thank you for writing.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious -- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity." Send 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to this newspaper.

SeMo State University Name Change Official

CAPE GIRARDEAU — In 1873 it was established as Southeast Missouri Normal School. In 1919 it became Southeast Missouri State Teachers College. In 1946 It became Southeast Missouri State College.

Now, as it enters its 100th year of service to the state, it's Southeast Missouri State University. The Board of Regents made the name change official Thursday, acting under authority granted by a law passed during the last session of the legislature and signed by the governor.

The change becomes effective immediately.

Also Thursday, the board

. accepted the bid of Crites and Sailer Construction Co. of Cape Girardeau for the demolition and removal of Leming Hall at a cost of $16,500;

. approved salary increases for faculty and staff of the university averaging 5.5 per cent;

. approved an increase in room and board fees of $1 per week beginning with the second semester of the coming school year and a second increase of $1 per week to go into effect for the 1973-74 school year;

. granted permission for university officials to negotiate a contract with Missouri Utilities for the exchange of power in emergency situations;

. reaffirmed its commitment to equal employment opportunities;

. appointed a committee to recommend consultants to make a long-range property - utilization study for the university; and

. heard a report on the difficulties in getting the power plant addition into operation.

Other reports presented to the regents included those which dealth with new guidelines for submitting the University's budget proposal for the coming fiscal year, the request of the university for a supplemental appropriation at the forthcoming special session of the legislation, the first phase of the repair of Academic Hall, and the recommendations of a consultant of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for establishment of a six-year program on the campus.

The board also reviewed the revised faculty handbook and approved the appointment of new faculty members as replacement.

Leming Hall, a women's dormitory and landmark on the campus, has been in a poor state of repair for a number of years and is to be razed to make way for a new student union building. Crites and Sailer is to complete the job and clear the land within 60 days of official notification that it has the contract for thyproject.

Dr. Mark F. Scully, president of Southeast Missouri State, said during a board discussion of progress on the new student union, it was brought out that a State Planning Office report on a survey of physical facilities had found the building unsafe and recommended the demolition of Leming "regardless of whether anything was put there or not."

Dr. Scully also noted that many of the furnishings in Leming Hall will be utilized in other residence halls and that the board approved a procedure for disposing of those furnishings which the university does not wish to continue using.

Individual items, not large quantity lots, will be offered at first. The remaining items will then be offered to used furniture dealers and anything that is left will then be disposed of by public sale.

The increase in room and board fees approved by the regents will be the first in two and one-half years when it takes effect, according to Dr. Scully. "Due to rising costs, we just weren't able to make ends meet," Dr. Scully said.

According to Dr. Scully, the agreement to be worked out with Missouri Utilities will allow the college to share any excess power it might have with Missouri Utilities in times of peak loads, and in turn the private utility will provide additional power for the university campus when needed.

Dr. Scully said the board heard a lengthy report on the "affirmative action program" required for compliance with the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and then approved a resolution which reads:

"The Regents of Southeast Missouri State University do hereby reaffirm and state the policy of Equal Employment Opportunity. All necessary action shall be taken to ensure that applicants are employed, and that employees are treated during employment, without regard to their race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. The obligation to establish affirmative procedure to implement this policy shall rest with the President of the University.

Dr. Robert Foster, assistant to Dr. Scully, and dean of graduate studies, has been appointed the University's affirmative action program executive.

The committee which will report back to the board with its recommendations on consultants for the property - utilization study will consist of Dr. Foster, Dr. David Strand, dean of the university, Dr. A. R. Meyer, dean of instruction, and Carroll Walker, dean of students. it will be chaired by Joseph W. Dye of Sikeston, a member of the Board of Regents.

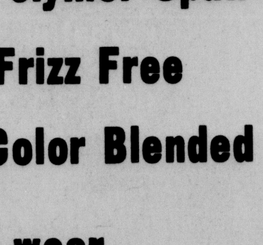

Robert Schmidt of Rogers Schmidt Engineering Consultants of St. Louis reported to the board on the delay in the completion of the university's power plant addition. The Schmidt firm designed the specifications for the addition, which was suppose to have been in operation a year ago.

Schmidt told the board that the plant should be ready for operation by the beginning of the "heating season."

Appointed to the faculty for the coming year were David J. Walker, instructor of social scinece; Mrs. Janet Sue Serner, Campus School supervisor; Miss Susan Aline White, instructor of speech; J. Robert Willingham, assistant librarian; Terry P. Sutton, assistant professor of social science; Peter N. Gorham, instructor of social science; Peter L. Hirschburg, instructor of social science; Mrs. Doris Edmondson, instructor of education and psychology; Donald Berg, instructor of social science; and Michael Macaluso, assistant professor of education and psychology.

Durocher Takes Over Costly Move

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leo Durocher says the Houston Astros can catch the Cincinnati Reds ... and Leo the Lip isn't talking through Harry Walker's hat.

The 66-year-old Durocher is wearing his own hat these days as manager of the Astros and his debut Sunday—one day after Houston fired Harry "The Hat" Walker—was a winning one by an 8-2 score over Montreal.

"The guys were all relaxed and happy," said Durocher, who was canned himself one month earlier by the Chicago Cubs. "It's been a long time since players, like most of the ballclub did, came up and said congratulations and let's get 25 more."

Even 25 more might not help the Astros, who remained eight games behind Cincinnati in baseball's National League West when the Reds trimmed Philadelphia 7-2.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles made it three in a row over Pittsburgh 7-4, Chicago battered San Francisco 9-3, the New York Mets walloped Atlanta 13-6 and St. Louis trounced Montreal 9-2.

Durocher, who managed the New York Giants to a comefrom-behind pennant against the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1951, said Cincinnati's "only weakness is that they have to lose and we have to win."

The Astros scored three runs in the second inning Sunday, three more in the third and Doug Rader hit a two-run homer in the eighth in support of Larry Dierker's eight-hit pitching.

Durocher said he had no plans to return to baseball until the past weekend.

"I was all set to go to Korea," he disclosed. "My wife and I had already taken our shots and were ready to take a couple of months' vacation. Lo and behold, at midnight Friday the telephone started ringing (Houston General Manager Spec Richardson) and it didn't stop until 3 a.m.

"I was very happy to get the call. This team has speed, good defense and power. I like a running ballclub, a hustling ballclub, and I like speed."

The Reds tagged Philadelphia's Wayne Twitchell for six extra-base hits in 5 1-3 innings, including two doubles and a triple by Pete Rose and a two-run homer by Denis Menke. Joe Morgan also homered for the Reds, who have won 12 of their last 15 games in pulling away from Houston.

Chris Cannizzaro lashed a tiebreaking two-run double with two out in the eighth inning as the Dodgers downed Pittsburgh. Despite their third consecutive setback, the Pirates still hold a 10-game lead over the Cubs.

Cannizzaro's double followed an intentional walk to Bill Russell. Earlier, Frank Robinson hit a two-run single and Bill Buckner socked a two-run homer for the Dodgers while Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente also drove in a pair of runs with a single and sacrifice fly.

Shortstop Don Kessinger, who committed two damaging errors that helped San Francisco to a 3-0 lead, drilled a tiebreaking two-run single in the seventh as the Cubs overtook the Giants. Chicago wrapped it up with four runs in the eighth on Billy Williams' 28th homer and three consecutive basesloaded walks.

Good News For Bob Seagren

MUNICH (AP) — The United States won its first medal of the 20th Olympics today — a silver in small bore rifle shooting — and can win its first two golds tonight if American swimmers continue their assault on Olympic records.

America also has a solid chance for at least a bronze in women's diving.

Li-Ho-jun of North Korea broke both the Olympic and world records in the small bore rifle shoot with 599 out of a possible 600.

Vic Auer of North Hollywood, Calif., tied for the silver medal with Nicolae Rotaru of Romania with 598, which tied the old Olympic record.

Mark Spitz of Carmichael, Calif., sped through his 200-meter butterfly qualifying heat in 2:02.11, one of three Americans to shatter the old Olympic standard of 2:06.6 set by Australia's Kevin Berry in 1964. The other U.S. record-breakers in the event were Gary Hall of Garden Grove, Calif., timed in 2:03.70 and Robin Backhaus of Redlands, Calif., timed in 2:03.11.

In the men's 100-meter backstroke, the Olympic standard of 58.7 seconds set by East Germany's Roland Matthes in 1968, fell twice to Americans.

First, Mike Stamm of San Diego, Calif., was timed in 58.63 and then Mitch Ivey of San Jose, Calif., lowered the mark to 58.15. Matthes won his heat in 1:00.01.

Meanwhile, there was good news for pole vaulter Bob Seagren. The International Amateur Athletic Federation reversed itself and said he can use the pole with which he set his world record. Seagren took the news calmly.

The men's 200-meter butterfly and 400-meter freestyle relay are the premier events of today's program, along with women's three-meter springboard diving and 200-meter individual medley.

Spitz, the bronzed and mustachioed California who holds the world butterfly record of 2:01.53, will be going after the first two of seven gold medals he expects to take home—as he is constantly being reminded.

Micki King, an Air Force captain from Pontiac, Mich., stands in third place in the springboard diving with 289.14 points. She trails two Swedish blondes, Ulrika Knape, with 292.59 points, and Agneta Henriksson, with 290.79.

The strongest U.S. hope in the women's 200 individual medley was Lynn Vidali of San Francisco.

In another prime final today, the U.S. women's gymnasts appeared to be out of medal contention. The American girls stood in fifth place, although led by a dazzling performance by 19-year-old Cathy Rigby. The Soviet Union was in first place.

The first gold medal winners of the Games were Ragnar Skanaker, a 38-year-old Swede who won the free pistol shoot with a record 567 of a possible 600 points, and Poland's Zygmunt Smalcerz, world flyweight weightlifting champ, who hoisted 744.05 pounds.

The IAAF banned Seagren's slender, green pole for Olympic use earlier this summer, saying it had not been available to athletes elsewhere in the world at least one year before the Games.

But George Moore, maker of the poles, appeared before the IAAF Sunday and argued: "Every world-class athlete who could possibly have come to the Games had access to them late last year."

The IAAF decided he was right.

The Missouri State High School Activities Association made a costly move by transfering the class L regional basketball tournament from Sikeston to Poplar Bluff last season.

In the association's financial report of regional basketball tournaments, it showed that the move cost the MSHSAA $1,346.80.

Official reports on the reason for the move was that the association wanted to pass the event around, but in recent years Poplar Bluff and Sikeston have been the only two schools to host the event.

Many felt that the reason for the move was a controversy that arose out of the finals of the 1971 event that involved Sikeston and Dexter. Officials failed to hear the final buzzer as Dexter was making a come from behind effort to upend the Bulldogs and sank a shot after the final horn had sounded that would have put them in the state tournament. The official timer ruled that the shot was taken after the final gun.

Poplar Bluff grossed $2,891 last season while Sikeston took in $7,700, which was the tops in the state for the year in 1971. The MSHSAA share from last season's event was $578.20 while it gained $1,925 from Sikeston and the participating schools also had larger shares.

The financial report showed that MSHSAA gained money overall in the Class M and S regionals while a drop from 1971 was recorded in class L.

If the MSHSAA is genuinely true in their statement about passing the event around, I wonder where it will go this season. Let's see ... there's Kennett, Dexter, Charleston, Perryville and Ste. Genevieve.

Wise Helps Self

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Hard-luck Rick Wise, loser of 10 one-run decisions, took matters into his own hands in a laugher for the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday.

The 6-foot-2, bespectacled right-hander slapped a threerun double climaxing a six-run Cards first inning that pulverized the San Diego Padres 9-2.

Wise's seven-hit victory, his 16th complete game of the campaign, followed losses by 3-2 to the Padres and 1-0 to the Los Angeles Dodgers during the past two weeks.

"It's good we win, that's all," commented the snakebitten pitcher, who fanned seven and intentionally walked the Padres' Nate Colbert in the leadoff inning.

"Sometimes you've got to help yourself," added Wise, 1214, who smacked a Fred Norman delivery over the head of Padres left fielder Leron Lee.

"Norman tried to turn the ball over on a fast ball," said Wise, whose hit followed still another walk, to Dal Maxvill. "The ball got out over the middle of the plate. I was just trying to meet it."

Wise, whose one-run setbacks include five by 3-2 and two by 2-1, had already worked past one of two Padres threats when the Redbirds' explosion occurred.

Jerry Morales and Dave Roberts opened the game with singles for San Diego, but Wise fanned Leron Lee as Roberts stole second. Then Wise intentionally passed Colbert before fanning Clarence Gaston and inducing Derrel Thomas to ground out.

San Diego broke through for its runs in the third when Morales and Colbert doubled around a Lee triple, but afterward Wise yielded only two singles.

"When games are close, sometimes you have to have finesse to get by," said Wise. "In a game like this you don't have to be as fine; you can afford to challenge the man at the plate.

"The trouble is you can't say when you're going to get a laugher. You just have to go with what you get out there. You better make sure you know what you're doing."

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Favorites Ilie Nastase and Olga Morozova won the singles titles Sunday in the $15,000 Estern Grass Courts Open Championships at Orange Lawn Tennis Club here.

Mrs. Morozova, 22, became the first Russian to ever win in the United States win the top prize of a $3,500 Renault sports coup. The match, interrupted by a heavy shower after the first when she beat Russian teammate Marina Kroshina in a long three-set struggle, 6-2, 6-7, 7-5.

SEMO Athletes Brighten Murray State Grid Outlook

MURRAY, Ky. -- Murray State's football coaching staff decided in spring practice that the Racers' best chance for success this fall would be to develop a strong running game.

After all, tailback Rick Fisher, the Ohio Valley Conference's leading rusher would be back, as well as fullback George Greenfield, the league's third leading rusher. And with but one exception, the offensive front line would be intact.

Thus far this fall, last spring's coaching decision has looked like a good one. Fisher has been running with the same razz-ma-tazz as last year when he averaged 107 yards a game. Greenfield, while reporting for practice overweight, has been constantly slimming down and looks as if, by the Racers' first game, he'll be the same quick, slashing runner as last fall. And there have been a couple surprise developments in the running game. Jim Engel, Greenfield's backup last season, has been most consistent, and tailback Don Clayton, out of action with an injury since one of his first practice sessions at Murray two years ago, has run brilliantly at times. Clayton scored 30 touchdowns his senior season at Malden, Mo., High School. A fifth running back, freshman Bob Marshall, has also performed well.

A major reason for the good running game has been the steady performance of the offensive line, which Coach Bill Furgerson thinks may be the best at Murray in some years. Mike Perry, a second-team all-conference center last season, has anchored the line with steady performances and good leadership. Sophomore Charlie Carpenter, a part-time starter at guard last season, may be one of the OVC's best tackles this year.

The Racer passing game hasn't been tested much thus far, but offensive coach Carl Oakley says he expects some problems. "We haven't worked much on pass protection and quarterback Tom Pandolfi is showing his sophomore inexperience at times, although he is beginning to think better."

The most consistent receiver has been tightend Bill Farrell, a 6-5, 225-pounder, who teamed with Pandolfi on several long passes last season.

The Racer defense, hard hit by graduation, has also performed surprisingly well. Linebacker Bruce Farris, who missed both last season and spring practice, is rounding into shape and if his injured shoulder holds up should be invaluable to the unit. Bill Fryer, another linebacker, has also performed steadily as has defensive end Joe Echert.

Jerry Stanely, moved from defensive end to tackle in the spring, has used his quickness to great advantage at the position. In fact, the entire unit should be extremely quick, though small.

The Racers ended two-a-day practice sessions Friday and got through the grueling period without a serious injury. A major, game-type scrimmage was scheduled Saturday.

Murray will open the season with Wester Carolina, Sept. 9 at Murray.

Ballwin Make Legion Series

Baseball reigns supreme in the community of Ballwin, Mo. after their American Legion squad made the World Series over the weekend. Lafayette high school, the state prep school baseball champs, are from this St. Louis county community and the squad is virtually the same as that that eliminated Kelly from this season's state tournament and capped their third straight state championship.)

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP) — Ballwin, Mo., earned a berth in the American Legion World Series by defeating Rapid City, S. D., 13-2 Sunday night in the Central Plains Regional baseball tournament.

Going undefeated in the double elimination regional, the hard-hitting Ballwin squad posted 19 hits in mauling the South Dakotans, including a 377-foot home run by Steve Viefhaus, only the second ball to be hit out of Duncan Field in more than 30 years of Legion play.

Ballwin also defeated Rapid City Saturday when Dave Tuttle threw a no-hitter.

In Sunday night's game, Rapid City gained a 2-0 lead as Tom McNulty held Ballwin to two hits in the first four innings. McNulty then was forced to leave the game abiding by a Legion restriction limiting pitchers to 12 innings in three days.

Ballwin jumped on four other Rapid City pitchers, including a four-run splurge in the sixth and six runs in the eighth.

Rapid City had ousted Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 3-2, earlier Sunday for the right to meet Ballwin. Rapid City 002000000—252 Ballwin 00001426x—13191

50-Day Duck Season

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri duck hunters will have a 50-day season from Oct. 29 through Dec. 17, the state Conservation Commission says.

All may be mallards. The daily limit will be four and a possession limit of eight.

The commission set the waterfowl seasons within the framework handed down by the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife.

Because of a continued slump in populations of redhead and canvasback ducks, the season will be closed on both species.

Hunters may take no more than two wood ducks and have in possession no more than four.

This year's Canada goose season will be similar to that of 1971.

The blue, snow and whitefronted goose season will run Oct. 29 through Jan. 6 with a daily bag and possession limit of five or which not more than two may be white-fronts.

Limites and season vary in several special zones.

Swan Lake zone, where the bulk of Missouri's Canadan goose hunting is done, will open Nov. 1 and run either until a Canada goose quota of 14,000 has been reached or 70 days, whichever comes first.

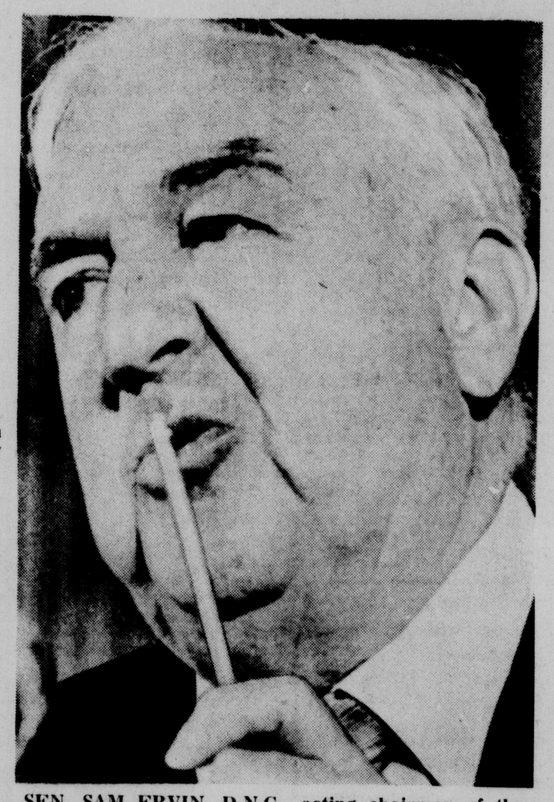

Daily limit is one Canada or two white-fronted geese or one of each. The possession limit is two of each.

The Canada goose season in the Squad Creek zone in northwest Missouri will be Oct. 29 through Nov. 27 with a daily limit of one Canada or two white-fronted geese or one of each and a possession limit of two each.

In the lower Mississippi zone, the Canada goose season will be Dec. 1 through Jan. 20, with a daily limit of two Canadas or two white-fronted geese or one of each and a possession limit of four Canadas or two of each.

In the rest of the state, the Canada goose season will be Oct. 29 through Nov. 18 with a daily limit of one Canada or two white-fronted geese.

The commission set two other seasons. Coots and mergansers will open Oct. 29 and run through Dec. 17. The daily coot limit is 15 wich 30 in possession. It is five daily and 10 in possession on mergansers.

SEN. SAM ERVIN, D-N.C., acting chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, is directing hearings into the proposed merger of the American and National Basketball Associations.

Taiwan Wins Series

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Lin Hsin-chen won't be back as Taiwan's manager next year, but Little League fans will be mighty surprised if the Asian republic doesn't have a survivor in next year's eightteam world series.

Taiwan shut out Hammond, Ind., 6-0 in Saturday's Little League title game for its third championship in four years.

Lin, 34, a former baseball star in Taiwan, played a key part in the victory, then told a newsman through an interpreter that he had to give up his career as a Little League manager.

"I have to spend more time at my drug store," he said.

Lin's major contribution was refusing to believe a statement by Hammond's manager that right-hander George Leonakis would start the title game.

Lin was certain that lefty John Davis, Hammond's opening game pitcher was going to start, and practiced against its own left handers before Saturday's championship.

When Davis started, Taiwan was ready for him. After getting two runners on base, but failing to score in the first, the Taiwan boys kept hitting, scoring twice in the second on a homer, double, single and a walk.

"I was sure they would start the left-hander," said Lin. "We met after he (Davis) pitched the first game. We're not used to left-handers in Taiwan.

"I told the players to keep calm. Whether he's left-handed or right-handed he has to pitch the ball over the plate."

Once Taiwan scored its first pair of runs, the contest was over. Chen Chih-shun, who won Taiwan's opening game 9-0 on a one-hit shutout, was just as masterful—giving up four hits, striking out 12 and walking none.

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Tied by Bill Harvey of Greensboro, N.C. after 15 holes, Terry Mauney of Charlotte, N.C., finally pulled ahead and won the Southern 500 Invitational Golf Tournament by three strokes in the final round Sunday.

Mauney got intro trouble on No. 17 when he knocked his tee shot into the water. But he came back with a birdie on the 18th to give him a par 72 and a 54-hole total of 211 for the three-day tournament at the 6,300-yard Darlington Country club course.

the people company

It's the age of computer companies and manufacturing companies — of punch-card correspondence and mass production. And maybe that's not all bad, at least in some businesses.

When it comes to our own profession, though, we're against this modern trend. We still think of ourselves as a "people company" — a place where helping is still a personal gesture of human caring.

Raids Heaviest In Four Years

SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers destroyed or damaged more than 170 buildings Sunday at military camps in the heaviest raids on the Hanoi -Haiphong area in 4½ years, the U.S. Command announced today.

The command said that Air Force and Navy jets attacked 20 different targets in the Hanoi-Haiphong area, including three army barracks, the northeast rail line to China, railroad yards, supply barges, storage and fuel depots, and antiaircraft missile and artillery batteries.

It was the heaviest attack in the Hanoi-Haiphong area since March 1968, U.S. officials said.

North Vietnam claimed five American jets were shot down and some pilots captured. The U.S. Command made no mention of any plane losses.

Among the raids Sunday was the first attack of the war on the Xom Bai army barracks 37 miles northwest of Hanoi. Pilots said their bombs destroyed 13 barracks and 10 storage and support buildings, and damaged another 46 buildings.

The Xuan Mai military training complex 17 miles southwest of Hanoi and Hai Dong Barracks West, 23 miles northwest of Haiphong also were hit.

The U.S. Command confirmed a report from Washington that a Chinese minesweeper had slipped into Haiphong harbor despite the U.S. minefield laid last May. The Command said the sweeper has been in Haiphong about a week and is tied up next to a Chinese freighter. It said it was "not aware that any mines have been swept," and the Navy said the minesweeper had not attempted any clearing operations yet.

The Command said it had planted new mines "at various locations to cover areas not previously seeded."

The Navy said that the Chinese minesweeper was the only ship that had slipped into Haiphong, and none of the 27 ships there when the harbor was mined had left.

The U.S. Command announced that an American Air Force adviser was killed in South Vietnam Saturday when his small observation plane collided with a South Vietnamese jet near Que Son. A Vietnamese pilot with the American and the two Vietnamese in the jet were also killed.

In the ground war, North Vietnamese forces fought their way back into the district headquarters compound in Que Son Sunday night, but government troops were reported still holding other sections of the town.

The South Vietnamese were reported driven out of the military compound that was the district headquarters at dusk Sunday after a series of North Vietnamese artillery and mortar attacks and ground assaults. The compound is about the size of an average city block.

The heavy shelling attacks wounded at least 40 South Vietnamese troops, and helicopters trying to evacuate them were driven back by North Vietnamese antiaircraft guns ringing the town.

South Vietnamese rangers and infantrymen were reported trying to consolidate their positions at Que Son in an effort to hold the district capital. It fell to the North Vietnamese on Aug. 19, and the South Vietnamese recaptured it last Friday.

About 25 miles to the north, U.S. helicopter gunships apparently thwarted a rocket attack on Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city. Field reports said the helicopters attacked about 35 enemy troops carrying rockets about six miles south of the city. At least three of the North Vietnamese were reported killed.

Farther north, fighting was reported to have decreased sharply at Quang Tri. Field reports said less than 500 rounds of shellfire hit South Vietnamese positions Sunday, compared to between 1,500 and 2,000 rounds a day in the week before. There was no immediate explanation for the drop.

The Saigon Command claimed 54 North Vietnamese troops were killed in and around Quang Tri Sunday. It said eight government troops were killed and 34 wounded.

Tries To Hang Self In Jail

CHARLESTON -- Clayton Counts, 24, of Charleston attempted to hang himself with his belt in the Mississippi County jail Saturday night.

Counts, arrested at 6:42 p.m. Saturday by city police for public intoxication, was found hanging from a bar in his cell about 8:45 p.m. by jail trustee, Andrew Mays.

Mouth to mouth rescusitation and oxygen were administered and Counts was revived. He was find $25 and released in custody of his wife.

Counts is reportedly on five years parole from Kentucky.

Robert F. Chandler of Charleston was fined $25 for drinking and disturbing the peace and Gary Dale McDermott of Charleston was fined $22 on the same charge. Both men were arrested with Counts Saturday.

Also appearing in city court this morning were George Simmerman of Charleston, drunk and common assault, $25; Maksymilian Pazaszarar of Charleston, public intoxication and peace disturbance, $16; Patsy Anderson of Charleston, shoplifting at the P.N. Hirsch Store, $23. A shoplifting charge against Betty Anderson of Charleston was dismissed.

AN EXPLOSION AND fire destroyed the home of Paul Oakley at 603 Ruth St. early this morning. Oakley had spent Sunday cleaning the house preparing to move in.

Explosion Destroys Home

Police and fire officials are investigating the cause of an explosion and fire that destroyed the home of Paul Oakley at 603 Ruth Street early this morning.

A fire early Sunday morning nearly took the life of Robert Green of 105 Luther Street.

An explosion at 1:15 a.m. blew out the front wall of the Oakley house. Oakley, 30, an assistant football coach and language arts teacher at Charleston High School, had just purchased the house. He had spent all day Sunday cleaning it in preparation for moving in.

Oakley was treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital at 2:55 a.m. for first, second, and third, degree burns of the hands, face, and forearms. He told police the burns were not connected with the explosion at his house. He said the stove at his brother's house in Charleston where he was staying exploded and burned him.

Green, fell asleep while smoking in bed and ignited the mattress with a cigarette. Police said Green apparently had been drinking.

Green's life was saved when he rolled out of bed after the mattress caught fire, according to police. A neighbor, who saw smoke coming from the house, pulled Green out of the room.

He was treated at the hospital for second degree burns of the right forearm, smoke inhalation, and an injury to the right elbow.

The fire was confined to the mattress.

Sikeston Man Dies In Crash

Seven persons were injured and a Sikeston man was killed in five separate highway accidents in the Bootheel during the weekend, according to reports issued by the highway patrol.

Richard Wayne Phelps, 20, of 205 Benton St. was dead at the scene of a two car mishap Saturday at 4:30 p.m. on Highway 114, two miles west of Sikeston. The accident occurred as Phelps attempted to pass a car driven by Lynn Boyd Criter, 43, of Morehouse. Patrol officials said Phelps failed to cut away from the other car soon enough, struck the Criter vehicle from behind and skidded off the roadway into a tree.

Phelps was born March 31, 1952 in Machinaw Island, Mich.

He was an employe of H & H Termite Control.

Survivors include his wife, Mary Alice of Sikeston; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Phelps, III, of Elizabethtown, Ky.; three brothers, John Phelps, with the U.S. Coast Guard in Hassen Island, Mich., and Gary and Geoffrey Phelps, both of Elizabethtown; five sisters, Mrs. Joanna Rhea of Shepherdsville, Ky., Mrs. Pat Denning of Elizabethtown, and Misses Susan, Rejean and Lona Phelps, all of Elizabethtown.

Services will be held Tuesday at 3 p.m. in the Nunnelee Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Ed Stepehenson officiating.

Burial will be in Dogwood Cemetery near Charleston.

In other area accidents, a one-car mishap Saturday occurred at 4 p.m. on Township Line Road, four miles east of Kennett. Harold Lloyd Lyell, 24, of Bragg City, drove his car off the roadway into a ditch. Lyell and a passenger, William Lee Gentry, 21, also of Bragg City, received minor injuries and were taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

At 7:15 p.m. Saturday on Highway 62 in Risco, David Sawyer, 19, of Risco was injured when the car in which he was a passenger was struck head on by a vehicle driven by Shirley Mosby, 19, of Gideon. Driver of the other car was Bonnie Presley, 20, of Risco. The patrol said Mosby was playing a game of "chicken" when her car collided with the Presley vehicle. Sawyer was taken to Malden Clinic, treated and released.

Two were injured in another one-car accident Saturday at 9 a.m. on Route E, six miles east of Perryville. John William Dover, 40, of Perryville, lost control of his car on a curve, ran off the roadway, struck an embankment and overturned. He received cuts on his forehead, and a passenger, George Byron Dover, 17, also of Perryville received minor injuries. Both were taken to Perry County Hospital.

Two pedestrians were struck by a car and injured Sunday at 8 p.m. in Ripley County on Highway 160, three miles west of Doniphan. Driver of the car was Lawrence Earl Kelly, 60, of Doniphan. Injured were Mrs. Dorothy Dyson, 46, and her daughter, Tony, 5 both of Doniphan. Kelly swerved to avoid hitting a dog and struck the two. Mrs. Dyson sustained back and hip injuries and scratches. The child received a broken collar bone, scratches and cuts on the arm. They were taken to Ripley County Hospital in Doniphan.

Two Sought In Theft

Two young women are being sought by Sikeston police for stealing a billfold at noon Saturday from a purse of an employe of Shy's Drug Store in the Midtowner Village.

Lorene Limbaugh of 115 East Gladys told police that the two girls took $234 in checks and cash from her purse. She said one girl had blond hair the other dark. Both were wearing blue jeans.

The description matches that given for two girls being sought for similar robberies last week in Jackson, Cape Girardeau, and Chaffee.

THE SICK (?) SOCIETY

Gloom purveyors love to call the United States the "sick" society. Because the U. S. fails to measure up to their utopian standards, they claim that revolutionary changes are necessary. Hardly ever do they mention some of the benefits of living in this nation.

We have the highest living standard in the world. Our national income equals that of the next six highest nations combined. While half of the world subsists on $100 per capita income a year, the U. S. enjoys an average of $3600. Even the highly developed West European nations have per capita incomes of only about $1600. Russians, living in an alleged "workers' paradise," average $800 a year.

A mere six per cent of the world's population lives in the U.S. Yet, it graduates as many from high school as all the nations in the world combined. We also have more college graduates than the total of all the other nations.

Professional pessimists often cite the number of American poor, some 15 per cent of our population. But if 15 per cent are poor, 85 per cent are not poor. Most countries would be pleased if they had such low poverty figures. Many Americans, however, make a point of always looking at the negative side.

Adherents to the sick society myth believe that the good life cannot be measured in material terms alone. They are correct. The U. S. allows more personal freedom than any other nation. An American can freely travel from New York to Los Angeles. There are no commissars to check papers at state lines, and our high standard of living has given most Americans enough wealth and leisure time to afford the trip.

Under our capitalist system, any citizen can start the enterprise he wants. He has a free market in which to dispose of his product. Besides the freedom to work where he wants, an American can worship where he chooses, travel where he pleases and write what he wants. We have no state regulations against personal freedoms. Perhaps those who call this a sick society are sick.

* * *

Nearly any proposition looks well in figures.

* * *

The American public has been exposed to the seamy-side of politics which forced Sen. Thomas Eagleton to step down after his nomination as the Democratic vice president candidate. The after-thoughts of party leaders when it was disclosed that Eagleton had been hospitalized previously for physical exhaustion, including psychiatric treatment, were overplayed especially by the television coverage and by the networks' commentators.

Also, we aren't particularly happy with Jack Anderson, whose syndicated column appears in The Standard, for his radio story citing that Eagleton has been cited for drunken and reckless driving. He has issued a full retraction and apologized, but that doesn't undo a sloppy, inaccurate job of character assassination. At least, we are thankful that this untrue charge never was included in his column for publication in The Standard. The fact is that we have considered dropping the Anderson column and, if it were't for a few avid readers of Washington Merry-go-round, we would have long ago.

Since those of us who have responsibilities for the editing of The Standard have an increasing distrust of Anderson's column, we would appreciate hearing from our readers before we make a final decision.

TO DEFENSE OF FOUR-LETTER WORDS

This item was reprinted in Catholic Quote recently, and it bears repeating ...

In recent years the expression "four-letter word" has suffered because of a crude, salacious and suggestive connotation. As a result, every four-letter word, although catalogued in the standard dictionary, will be a little bit ashamed, unless we rally to its defense. The good, beautiful and challenging four-letter words far outnumber the small rubbish pile of unworthy ones. Let's start with an alphabet of noble four-letter words, such as:

Aged -- All hail! They have fought the good fight.

Baby -- God's mystery with man and man's love for his wife.

Cool -- The well-balanced man never loses his.

Dare -- Genuine success is the result of this.

Earn -- How all earthly and eternal goals are attained.

Fair -- Being this wins true respect.

Give -- Real happiness comes when we do this.

Help -- True charity is bearing one another's burdens.

Idea -- The beginning of anything worthwhile.

Join -- No man is an island.

Kind -- Life is too short for anything else.

Love -- It makes the world go 'round.

More -- Great things are achieved by doing this.

News -- It lightens the heart when it's good.

Open -- When one's mind is -- prejudice vanishes.

Pray -- It keeps the lines open between God and us.

Quit -- A wise man knows when to.

Read -- When selective it makes for a well - developed intellect.

Sing -- It keeps the soul in harmony with life.

Tact -- It spares one the scars of soul and body.

Urge -- The Magic which brings out the best in many.

Vote -- Your privilege and duty in a free society.

Will -- The marrow of a healthy back-bone.

X-ray -- The savior of many a twenthieth century life.

Yoke -- So light when we understand the purpose of life.

Zeal -- The fire that burns up the league.

So here you are! It's just a start. Now see how many more you can add for the glorification of the four-letter word.

Not a great deal of fighting is done in the world, considering the amount of talk about it.

What is an advertising hitchhiker?

The manager of a department store in a small city recently identified an advertising hitchhiker as a merchant who exists on the advertising of his fellow retailers.

"For instance, a couple of clothing shops adjoining my store do a scant survival trade by hitchhiking on our advertising. Their business consists mainly of incidental purchases made by customers which our advertising draws to that side of the block.

"Strangely enough, both of the stores carry good lines and maintain low prices. We don't begrudge them the free ride, but we do think they are foolish. Even a small amount of advertising would bring some primary shopping to their stores. The increase in traffic would help us as well as themselves."

The retail executive added that every community had a large number of advertising hitchhikers. He said that the typical advertising hitchhiker did not realize that he was taking a ride on the promotional efforts of other merchants.

"The non-advertiser seems to think that a trade center is created by an act of God and that shoppers drift into a store by a process of osmosis. They can't understand the fact that activity in a trade center is a reflection of the combined advertising effort of all progressive retailers."

Like other hitchhikers, the advertising hitchhiker may be identified in most communities as an enterprise which has been by passed by prosperity -- and, too often, here today and gone tomorrow. Perhaps it is just as well. The merchant who can not understand that consistent investment in promotion helps his business and the whole community, may not deserve a full share of prosperity.

WAITING FOR PERON

In 1955, Juan D. Peron was ousted as Argentina's dictator by the armed forces and allowed to flee into exile. His 10-year reign earned him the reputation of a tyrant, torturer and thief. But at 76, Peron still is a powerful force in Argentine politics and a potential candidate in the presidential election scheduled for next March. The Justicialista Party, founded by Peron, already has nominated him as its candidate. If the election is held, the country will return to civilian rule for the first time since a military junta deposed civilian President Arturo Illia in June 1966.

Gen. Alejandro Lanusse, head of Argentina's military government since 1971 and also a possible candidate for the presidency, has declared that the government will not interfere if Peron wishes to return. Lanusse recognizes the need for the cooperation of the Peronists, who still control Argentina's powerful labor movement and a third of the electorate, if he is to return the country to constitutional government. Peron's chief spokesman, Hector J. Campora, announced in Madrid that Peron would return to Argentina before the end of the year, but apparently not before the Friday, Aug. 25 residency deadline set by Lanusse for all candidates for the 1973 election.

Despite his 17-year exile, Peron remains a folk hero to the working - class people who benefitted most from his policies. Part of his continuing appeal stems from nostalgia for the days when he first came to power following World War II. The treasury was then bulging from wartime sales of beef and grain. But by the time he was ousted a decade later, the nation was nearly bankrupt and it has yet to recover. Inflation is rampant. The cost of living has increased by 60 per cent since the first of the year, compared with 40 per cent for all of last year. Unemployment now totals 8 per cent and the country faces a huge balance - of-payments deficit.

Gen. Lanusse has refused to adopt stringent anti-inflationary measures which would be unpopular with the electorate. A 15 per cent wage increase announced in January and another which took effect June 1 only aggravated the problem. Even if Peron does return, many observers think his charismatic appeal to the working masses would slip away under the turbulent political and economic conditions of his homeland.

The Coyote Vote

Barry Goldwater's denigration of the coyote is not only uniformed but unworthy of a United States Senator. Indeed, we would anticipate a severe backlash. In his speech to the Republican National Convention at Miami Beach, Senator Goldwater compared complaining Democrats to coyotes which "just sit and bay and moan and cry at the moon." These Democrats "never suggest anything new, anything better or anything constructive. They just wait like the coyotes until they can tear something down or destroy a part of America."

There are a lot of coyotes in Arizona where Mr. Goldwater hails from, and there are those who love them, too. We have heard Mr. Goldwater expound on Arizona history and he is quite good; but he doesn't know coyotes. They are not as destructive as they were once thought to be, and they serve many useful purposes. They mate for life, which is admirable, and are good parents. Moreover, like the groundhog, they have survived the encroachments of civilization. They do indeed serenade the night skies, but is that bad? Somehow we have a feeling Mr. Goldwater is out of touch with reality (or has that been noted before?)

AGRICULTURAL DICTATORSHIP

A massive battle to organize farm workers is being waged across the United States. The commodity boycott is the weapon used. Mr. Tom Richardson, a spokesman and farm labor specialist for the California Farm Bureau, warns that boycotts threaten consumers' free choice in the marketplace. He also warns that farm workers are being dragooned into unions without elections of any kind and that farmers must sign away the freedom of workers under threat of bankruptcy when they can't move boycotted crops to market.

If farm worker organizing efforts continue along the lines established in the case of the grape workers, a new kind of oppression will have arisen in the United States. Mr. Richardson points out that farm labor contracts forced on producers in California hold such provisions as the following: "No elections for workers are provided, and no options for growers. All labor is assigned from a union hiring hall. The union determines eligibility for employement -- in effect hires and fires at its own discretion. The union contract stays with the farm for the life of its tenure. It goes with the lease, rental, sale, transfer, or even inheritance of the farm property. The union ... reserves the right to withdraw field hands at its own discretion. It assumes the right of access to farm property and to farmers' marketing and financial information -- however confidential or competitive."

The only conclusion that can be reached from the present trend in farm labor organizing efforts is that the ultimate goal of agricultural unions is the control of every farm and farmer in the land -- and the food supply of over 200 million consumers!!!

THE RIGHT DECISION

A sign salesman was driving past a service station in Phoenix, Arizona, that was plastered with placards. He stopped and counted 117 individual signs. He went inside and persuaded the owner to replace all those ugly screamers with one, well-designed, illuminated sign.

The owner reports that the new sign made such an impression that motorists thought it was a new station. In the first week after the sign went up, business increased 90%.

May Not Be on Ballot

Because of a technicality, the Conservation amendment may not be on the ballot in November. So far, it has not been approved, but its backers who worked so hard to get sufficient signatures, are to take the matter to the courts, in the hope that they will order it placed on the November ballot.

The amendment would place a 1c levy on bottled soft drinks, the money to be used for all types of conservation purposes, most of it for buying and preserving land in its natural state.

If it goes on the ballot, the chances are it will be approved, even though it does have strong opposition from the soft drink industry and some other groups.

CONSTRUCTIVE WORDS

Education, including academic, technical, public affairs education and self-education, deserves encouragement and support of very constructive citizen. Never in the history of man has a people given of its time, its interest and its treasure for the education and the future of its descendants as have the people of our country. Until very recently, the physical and material facilities of educational establishments, especially public education, were generally inadequate and poor, or at least they would be tought so by many.

No matter how primitive the buildings and the equipment, however, graduates of those early schools could read well, write good English sentences and spell. A look at the school buildings of that day and of the rather basic and abbreviated education of the teachers of those days cannot explain why students today finish high school still unable to read ,write or spell.

Reviewing some of the educational materials of the old days might be more helpful. One example is the "Elementary Spelling Book" published in 1880 and 1908, based on Noah Webster's "American Spelling Book." It is not a glamorous little book in appearance but it is solid good sense. Spelling does not come easy or automatically for most. It requires mental effort and drill. This is provided. In addition, examples of usage of words abound and the examples teach the pupils to be a good person and citizen.

Some examples of the maxims, not often found in later textbooks: "Men devoted to mere amusement misemploy their time." "Worldy men make it their primary object to please themselves; duty holds but a secondary place in their esteem." "Strong drink leads to the debasement both of the mind and the body." Modernists who have been taught to sneer at such sentiments will not understand how they could produce good citizens who can read and write and spell. Others know that constructive words help make constructive citizens. HLH

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON – The mysterious $25,000 that apparently helped finance the bugging incident at the Democratic national headquarters has now been traced to Hubert Humphrey's biggest financial backer, soybean oil tycoon Dwayne Andreas.

Andreas delivered the cash, according to secret sworn testimony, to President Nixon's chief fund raiser in the Midwest, Kenneth Dahlerg. Both men are Minneapolis millionaires.

The testimony was taken from Dahlberg in Miami by State's Attorney Richard Gerstein, who is investigating alleged violations of Florida laws in the bizarre case.

Under oath, Dahlberg also admitted that he didn't pick up the cash from Andreas until April 9, two days after the new campaign reporting law went into effect. The law requires a public accounting of political contributions, but the $25,000 was never reported.

Dahlberg testified that he flew into Miami on April 8th and met Andreas in his penthouse at the fashionable Seaview Hotel. The hotel's safety deposit box, however, was closed for the night.

The next day, Andreas withdrew $25,000 in cash from the saftey deposit box and gave it to Dahlberg, according to the sworn testimony. Dahlberg converted the money on April 10 into a cashier's check drawn on the First Bank and Trust Company of Boca Raton, Fla.

STANS GOT IT

He handed the check to Maurice Stans, the top fund raiser for the Nixon campaign, on April 11th at a Republican meeting at the Washington Hilton Hotel.

The $25,000 check later turned up in the bank account of Bernard Barker, a former CIA undercover man, who recruited a Mission Impossible team allegedly to bug the Democratic premises. Some of them had been involved in the Bay of Piegs fiasco with Barker, who is unknown to the CIA by the code name "Mancho."

In the early morning hours of June 17, five men, including Barker, were arrested at gun point inside the Democratic office complex at the Watergate Towers. They were wearing rubber surgical gloves and carrying electronic eavesdropping devices.

They were also caught with $5,300 in crisp new $100 bills, a couple of address books listing a White house contact and a walkie-talkie tuned to a special GOP security frequency.

DIFFERENT TALE

Dahlberg's sworn testimony, identifying Andreas as the source of the $25,000 differs from his statement to federal auditors who are investigating whether the new campaigns finance law has been violated.

He told them, according to an investigator, that he had collected the $25,000 from various sources before the campaign reporting law went into effect. But under oath, in Miami, he admitted the money had been turned over to him by Andreas two days after the deadline.

In his opinion, he testified, Andreas had no knowledge of how his money was used. We tried repeatedly to reach both Andreas and Dahlberg but neither returned our calls.

Maurice Stans, whose sworn testimony was also taken in Miami, claimed he passed the $25,00 cashier's check along to Hugh W. Sloan, Jr., the former campaign treasurer. Stans said he had no idea what Sloan did with the check or how it ended up in Barker's bank account.

Footnote: With only chief investigator Martin Dardis assigned to the case, Gerstein is ahead of the FBI in tracking down some of the bizarre details of the Watergate caper. Not only FBI agents, but congressional investigators have come to Gerstein for information.

'FACING AN EMERGENCY'

Money is pouring in for President Nixon's re-election campaign, but Republican Congressional fund raisers are finding the going rough.

The result is that the Republican Congressional Committee is making its appeals for money sound as desperate as possible.

Its latest appeal says GOP congressmen are "facing an emergency. We are out of funds for incumbent Republican congressmen. They are begging for funds. . . The Radicals — Liberals are joining forces to defeat them."

To make sure that prospective donors don't throw away the appeal without opening it, the GOP has put it in a highly official-looking brown manila envelope.

Instead of; the Republican Congressional Committee, the envelope is marked with the return address of the "U.S. House of Representatives." Thus it appears to be an official communication from the entire House rather than just one party's plea for cash.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Party at Convention:
Nixon Plans to Tour
Rockefeller for Labor Vote
By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON – There's just no real McGovern money around. And I refer not to the candidate's campaign chest but to the bookies in London, New York and Las Vegas. The odds, in virtually all books but one, are as lopsided as the inside of Pisa's leaning tower.

There is, however, one political scientist who has decided that Ricard Richard Nixon must run scared -- and that's Richard Nixon.

This was evident after a flying visit to Miami Beach, where the moon for a moment must have been shrouded in tear gas. The in-and-out hegira got me to the party on time. And out of the line of fire. The gathering Wednesday, during the hours before the President "accepted" the nomination, went unnoticed, though it should not escape the history books.

It was a gay affair, well sponsored by Nelson A. Rockefeller who is known not be short of petty cash -- a description which well fitted his 200 guests. They were the labor leaders who are willing to stand up and be counted as Republicans -- something which prominent union chiefs haven't done since the days of Herbert Hoover, with a slight deviation during the Tom Dewey and Dwight Eisenhower campaigns.

Strangely enough, of the hundreds of festivities, this stand-up drink and hor d'oeuvres gathing in the Promenade Room of the sandbagged Hotel Doral was of most special interest to President Nixon. He's an old labor hand and he now knows that he needs more than the fingers on both hands to tally off Sen. George McGovern's labor support as has been evident in the capital these past few days.

McGovern has some 33 national union endorsements (representing 7.6 million members). The Dakotan has, in fact, a majority on the AFL-CIO Executive Council. Of the 35 members, at least 15 are openly for the McGovern-Shriver slate; 5 are ardent Democrats but were angered by McGovern's hyperthyroid young strategists; and 1, the 400,000 — member Service Employees' George Hardy, soon will endorse him.

And there are the coal diggers. They may hate one another but they come out of the patches to vote Democratic – and they are sufficiently concentrated to swing some states.

So the President and his right hand, meaning Charles "Chuck" Colson who holed up in the Doral, are rallying their labor legions which are thinner than expected. But sturdy. They showed at the Gov. Rockefeller party-- not only the Teamsters' Frank Fitzsimmons, but the newly mod, long hair and all, Ray Corbett, chief of the 2.2 million New York State AFL-CIO Federation; Harold Pryor of the United Transportation Union; the Iron Workers' Jack Lyons, now virtually George Meany's constant companion, and others in the construction trades.

It all went so well that word spread that Rocky was the best labor organizer the President had. Since Gov. Rockefeller already had been tapped to be one of the President's "surrogate speakers," he will be asked to hit the road to rally labor leaders everywhere. He probably will accept.

Rarely has a convention social been so well planned--even special Presidential assistant on narcotics, Myles Ambrose, was there. Drugs have begun seeping into the big plants and Myles has become a popular fellow at gatherings of labor men who now are uptight on the threatening dope epidemic. Of course, there was Secretary of Labor Jim Hodgson who helped run a party Tuesday evening aboard a yacht which would not lose stature by heaving into St. Tropez.

Invitations to the leaders were telephoned by Assistant Secretary of Labor Bill Usery and a good time was had by all. Chuck Colson came out of his seventh floor warren to mix at Rocky's. And so did campaign manager Clark MacGregor.

It was really Chuck who saw to it that nothing went into the Republican platform which might turn off these labor chaps, especially Fitzsimmons. And it was the White House communications' section's Ken Clawson who whipped up some handy words for Fitz to issue.

Of course, word was flashed that White House domestic council chief John Ehrlichman had twisted arms to prevent a right-to-work plank or compulsory arbitration section to be written into the platform.

It was the President who kept atop all this, just as he had decided to send a telegram to Joe Tonelli, now president of the newest, merged big labor organization, the United Paper Workers International Union, which covers a field employing more than steel and auto do. Tonelli is swift-moving, articulate, and would make an impressive campaigner, though not yet in the national AFL-CIO top leadership echelon. The President spotted Tonelli and has asked that he be brought along to breakfast at the White House after Labor day.

As usual, the labor by-play got little play from the typewriter and tube brigades. But to the President and Chuck Colson, labor is one of the few make-or-break fronts second perhaps only to the youth. And McGovern is swinging in on both with far more strength than that political scientists Dick Nixon is contemplating calmly. So he is running scared.

Over 2,000 years ago, the Roman orator Cicero listed what he considered man's five most common and serious mistakes. His list still seems timely today. Mankind erred, Cicero said, by:

1. The delusion that individual advancement is made by crushing others;

2. The tendency to worry about things that cannot be changed or corrected;

3. Insisting that a thing is impossible because we cannot accomplish it;

4. Refusing to set aside trivial preferences, and

5. Neglecting development and refinement of the mind, as a result of not acquiring the habit of reading and studying.

Asks For Opinion On Tuition Law

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Rep. Vic Downing, DBragg City, has asked Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth for an opinion on the legality of a 1972 law providing tuition grants up to $900 for needy students at teither public or private colleges.

Downing said he voted against the bill in the 1972 regular session because he thought it was unconstitutional. He requested a formal opinion from the attorney general so he would know how to vote when an appropriatvon to fund the bill comes up.

He indicated he also wanted legal advice so he could draft new legislation in this field.

Downing noted that the Constitution bars the legislature from granting any money for religious purposes or from appropriating funds to individuals.

He also noted that the wording of the bill might make it possible for students attending private or religious colleges to get higher payments than those enrolled in public colleges and universities.

He said it is important for administrators and universities.

He said it is important for administrators of colleges, both public and church related, to know what the legal status of the bill is so they can act responsibly.

State Democratic Candidates To Join Eagleton

Expected to join the tour are Democrats Ed Dowd, candidate for Governor; Jack Schramm, candidate for Lieutenant Governor; Jim Kirkpatrick, candidate for Secretary of State and James Spainhower, candidate for Treasurer.

The tour will begin at 10:30 a.m. in Perryville with the dedication of the new section of I-55. Sen. Eagleton will address a noon meeting of the Lions Club in Cape Girardeau after which they will stop in Chaffee for a 3 p.m. coffee and wind up in Charleston for a fish fry at 6 p.m.

Thursday, Sen. Eagleton and the five candidates will visit five area cities. Included are Kennett for a breakfast with civic leaders at 8 a.m. and a coffee at Caruthersville at 10 a.m. After the luncheon in Sikeston, they will go to Dexter for a watermelon feed at 4 p.m., and at 7 p.m. Sen. Eagleton will be keynote speaker for the St. Francois County Democratic dinner at Farmington.

Ask Audit Of McGovern Books

WASHINGTON (AP) — Saying the results could be "very revealing," President Nixon's finance committee has asked congressional investigators to audit Sen. George McGovern's fund-raising records as closely as they did the Republicans'.

"There must be no reluctance on the part of the General Accounting Office to pursue as vigorously with Sen. McGovern's staff the kind of investigation it has with the Finance Committee," committee chairman Maurice Stans said Sunday.

"We will anticipate a report equally extensive," he said, adding that the GOP has "reason to believe (the Democratic accounts) will be very revealing."

The former Commerce secretary's four-page statement, distribued by Nixon's official Committee for the Re-election of the President, charged that the GAO report was a sloppy, politically motivated job.

"It is apparent that the strong and persistent pressures placed on the GAO by Democratic members of the Congress are responsible to a high degree for the inaccuracies in the report," Stans said.

John Connally, former Treasury secretary who's heading up the Democrats for Nixon drive, said on ABC's Issues and Answers program that the GAO report is a "nettlesome thing."

"I don't think it is going to be a major issue, anything of that kind," the former Texas governor and Lyndon B. Johnson protege said, "but I think it obviously doesn't help."

Elsewhere, President Nixon entertained 400 movie stars and directors at a poolside party at San Clemeote, Calif.

Today he was scheduled to get a progress report from Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird on plans for an all-volunteer Army by mid-1973, and counsel on the next announcement on Vietnam troop withdrawals.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, appearing on NBC's Meet the Press, had harsh words for Democratic opponents and newsmen who criticize U.S. bombing of North Vietnam but make no mention of Hanoi's shelling of South Vietnamese cities.

Brushing aside questions about his political ambitions in 1976, Agnew said he has softened his rhetoric and dropped "radical-liberal" from his vocabulary, but will continue to attack what he called McGovern's "unbelievable" statements.

McGovern, fresh from a quiet weekend with his family in Washington, scheduled a light day today in preparation for what has been billed as a major speech on employment and taxes in New York Tuesday.

His running mate, Sargent Shriver, spent the weekend relaxing, sailing and consulting with advisers at the family's Cape Cod, Mass., estate.

He threw away this week's schedule, except for a Detroit trip Monday night and Tuesday morning, to return to Washington for intensive campaign strategy talks.

Slight Improvement Shown By Economy Indicators

WASHINGTON (AP) — An index of leading indicators, which the government watches for signs of movement in the economy, increased seventenths of one per cent in July, a slight improvement over June.

Economists look to the index to get a general idea of broad movements in the economy rather than to measure precisely how the economy will perform.

"The leading indicators are continuing to signal further economic expansion in the months ahead," Asst. Secretary of Commerce Harold C. Passer said as his department released the July figures.

At the same time, the department revised slightly upward the figures for March, April, May and June. The 4.3 per cent gain in the index for this year's second quarter was the second largest in more than a decade.

With the July figures, the index rose to 143.6. The index was fixed at 100 for 1967.

What's The Law?

The Case Of The Rejected Ape Man

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

To insure that no one made a monkey out of Adam, a state law made it a punishable offense to teach that mankind descended or ascended from a lower form of animal. And because of the punishment prescribed, Ella's high-school teacher refused to instruct on those portions of the curriculum devoted to evolution.

Feeling that their daughter was being depreived of a full, proper and scientific education, Ella's parents went to court where they demanded an injunction against the enforcement of the antievolution statue.

"The men who passed that statute," they complained, "are obviously exceptions to the evolutionary principle of survival of the fittest. Because by the enforcement of the statute, they seek to restrict scientific learning in facor of religion dogman."

"A state has the right to prescribe the curriculum for its public schools," was the answer. "And that includes the exclusion of any theory it deems not in the public interest. As far as we're concerned, the best thing to do about evolution is to try and live it down."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you uphold the validity of the antievolution statue?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that while a state has the right to prescribe the cirriculum for its public schools, it may not prohibit the teaching of a scientific theory or doctrine where that prohibition is based upon reasons that violate provisions of the constitution. In this case, concluded the judge, the purpose of the antievolution statute is to establish a religious doctrine in schools as to the origin of man. It violates the freedom of religion mandate of the first amendment.

Peking Temple Becomes Park For Common People

PEKING (AP) — The awesome distance between the Chinas of yesterday and today is keenly felt at the mystic Altar of Heaven, in the southern suburbs of Peking.

From its triple terrace of carved marble the emperors of two dynasties and 500 years conversed twice a year with the heaven under whose mandate they ruled.

With sacrifices at summer and winter solstices, each emperor confirmed himself as the sole intermediary between heaven and the world at large. It was the concept of Imperial China that all power and therefore all good came from a nonpersonal heaven and was transmitted solely through the emperor.

The Temple of Heaven was the architectural platform on which the mystical structure of imperial power and government rested.

Today the temple, built to raise the emperor above the common world, has become a park for the common people.

Visitors don't seem to stand in awe of the superhuman powers and position of the emperors of old China. All that's left is an architectural masterpiece, built during the early decades of the Ming Dynasty in the 15th century and kept in repair up to now.

Among the wonders of the temple's architecture is the Hall of Prayers with proportions that correspond to old Chinese cosmology, rising to a triple roof with Prussian-blue tiles and topped by a golden lotus bud. Inside are tablets denoting dead emperors.

A long marble path leads south toward a circular walled enclosure with a round building, where the sacred tablets were kept. It has a famous whispering wall — prayers spoken along the wall could be heard around the whole compound. In the old days the temple was barred to all common folk. On the eve of the solstice the emperor was borne in a yellow sedan chair, curtained off with blue cloth, through empty Peking streets. The emperor spent the night at the Hall of Abstinence and on the following morning ascended the Altar of Heaven for awesome ceremonies. Knocking his head nine times on the marble while crouching on echoing stones, he talked to Heaven. Today this center stone has become a spot where Chinese tourists stamp their feet and clap hands or raise loud hellos to try out the echoing stone. They hear few good things about this relic except that only the ingenuity, hard work and artistry of the common workers made it possible for the emperors to build this stepping stone to heaven.

Boys Pinch Secretaries For Pastime

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Secretaries and other female workers in Kansas City, Kan., weren't taking too kindly to a pastime pursued by an increasing number of boys--pinching secretaries and female workers.

Police Chief John J. Donnelly, acting on the vehement protests lodged by the women, dispatched officers dressed in street clothes to the Center City Plaza Mall this week to watch for the acitivity. Several youths from 10 to 15 years old were arrested and charged with harassing and bothering young women.

Mrs. Ronald Menz

Menz-Lumsden

MATTHEWS — Wedding vows were exchanged by Ruth Ann Lumsden and Ronald Clay Menz July 30 at 7 p.m. with the Rev. Clyde McCullum officiating at the double ring ceremony in the Christian Church.

Pink Roses and white stocks decorated the church and pews were decorated with sprays of fern tied with pink satin ribbon.

Mrs. John Lett of Sikeston, organist, played a medley of wedding selections before the ceremony and accompanied Mrs. R. L. Richards as she sang "We've Only Just Begun," and the "Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lumsden of Matthews and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Menz of Chicago, Ill.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white silk organza fashioned with a high neckline, long full sleeves and an A-line skirt. Tiny Venise lace enhanced the bodice and extended onto the skirt. A detachable Watteau chapel train flowed from the back waistline and was entirely edged with the Venise trim.

A headpiece of Venise lace and organza held her short bouffant veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink cymbidium orchids, pink roses and baby's breath.

Miss Martha Jo Spalding, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Laura Lumsden of Dexter was flower girl. They wore pink dotted swiss dresses with pink headpieces made of Venise lace and pink ribbon. The bridesmaid carried a nosegay of pink roses and miniature carnations.

Reggie Stotts of Sikeston was best man. Russell Wissman, cousin of the bride, and David Richards, were ushers. Candlelighters were Douglas Scott and Mark Silverthorn. Gary Silverthorn was ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a two piece silk linen dress with a lace jacket and matching accessories an a white cymbidium orchid.

The groom's grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Herring of Bertrand, wore a pink silk dress with a white cymbidium orchid.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church dining room. Serving were Mrs. Vincent Wissman, Mrs. Homer Spradling and Mrs. Joe Spradling, all aunts of the bride; also Mrs. Dan Ford of Sikeston and Mrs. Stanley Lumsden of Dexter.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Matthews High School and of a business school in Cape Girardeau. She was an employe of the Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston before her marriage. The groom is a graduate of a Chicago, Ill. high school and has served three and one half years in the army.

After a short honeymoon to Kentucky Lake they will be at home at 2641 N. Fairfield Ave. in Chicago.

Bridal showers were given July 14 by Mrs. David Croom and July 14 by the Christian Womens Fellowship.

Woman Drives In Demolition Derby

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri Human Rights Commission says Connie Williams, 22, Mexico, can drive in a demolition derby in Mexico, Mo., Saturday night.

And, Clyde Scott, chairman of the commission, said today, state law says any other woman can drive in the car smasher event.

The commission did not rule on whether the derby is classified as employment, but agreed that Mrs. Williams, mother of a 3-year-old girl, is covered by state laws against discrimination.

"I finally made it," Mrs. Williams said today. "My husband has driven in it for two years and he seemed to enjoy it, so I thought I'd try it."

"My husband is behind me 100 per cent," she said. "He's never been hurt and sees no reason why I can't compete."

"The prooters said their insurance wouldn't cover women," she said.

She wrote the commission, saying, "Sex is the only reason I am denied the right of entry."

She will drive a 1963 Buick. In the event, the drivers ram their cars into each other and the last car able to move is the winner.

Medieval Fair Held In Upper Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP) — The jousting is over and all fair maidens in distress have been rescued by their sturdy knights, but the memories for thousands of youngsters and a few of their elders linger on.

Memories of the second annual Medieval Fair and Festival in upper Manhattan.

The mid-August event capped the Summer Medieval Crafts Workshop Program conducted for city youngsters by the Cloisters, the Metropolitan Museum's branch of medieval art.

Running from late morning to late afternoon, the fair included games, entertainment, costumes of the period, troubadors and dances.

Young Festival Workshop members performed, and the scene was enlivened by the cavorting of a unicorn, puppet shows, and wares of the era displayed in the market place.

In mock battle, the "good guys" in shining armor always won—and were rewarded with a kiss from a damsel.

The cost of the workshop and festival were shared by the Cloisters, the Neighborhood Action Program for Washington Heights and Inwood, Community School District 6, the Upper Manhattan Artists cooperative, and the New York State Council on the arts.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Her boyfriend told her she didn't have the guts to audition for a position as a topless go-go dancer.

So Susan Foust, who weights 309 and measures 54-46-59, took up the challenge.

She was hired on the spot by Gale Alberts, manager of a local cafe, who explained: "The crowd just stared."

Now Miss Foust, under the stage name Bertha, does her act nightly on the cafe's mirrored stage.

Miss Black America Gives Up Title

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Linda Barney is the new Miss Black America but only because Diane Jackson didn't want the title.

Miss Jackson, 22, of Los Angeles was crowned before a Hollywood Palladium crowd of 700 Saturday night and promptly announced she was giving up the title to accept a singing contract.

She turned and placed the crown on the head of the 19year-old New Jersey pre-medical student, first runner-up in the contest that drew black beauties from 36 states.

J. Morris Anderson, producer of the five-year-old festival, said later that Miss Jackson's action was "not spur of the moment." He said others had influenced her, seeking to harm the event.

Anderson would not elaborate but said he was consulting with attorneys and planned to meet with newsmen later this week.

Ann Landers

Former Dope Addict Finds His Way Out

Dear Ann Landers: I would appreciate the opportunity to reply to the Texas M. D. who made the statement that "scientific evidence actually favors no bra." As a gynecologist I have seen and read of many cases of women who never wore bras. Do you know what they look like. Their breasts are flat. Very flat. The Cooper's ligament, unassisted, is not able to support the weight of the average breast. This condition is called "Cooper's Droop."

Ann, please tell your women readers that going without a bra may give them a feeling of liberation but it will result in sagging breasts. Almost everyone has seen films of tribal African women which are conclusive evidence. The females have never worn bras and they all have Cooper's Droop. I hope you will print my letter so your readers will know that the El Paso physician does not have the support of all members of the medical profession. I am a -- New York M. D.

Dear Doc: You have demonstrated the wisdom of obtaining a second opinion. Your word of warning may well have rescued a whole generation of potential Super -Duper -Cooper -Droopers.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read that letter in your column from the guy who fell through a skylight while tripping. My story is similar, except I started with pills. From pills I went to smoking dope. This lasted for about six months. Then I decided to drop acid for a bigger belt.

My first trip was a brute. It was everything I'd ever heard it would be. I could hardly wait to try again. That second trip was the granddaddy of all bummers. Man was I spaced out! I begged my pals to take me to a hospital but they said I'd get asked a lot of questions and everybody would be in trouble. I went into a rage, crying and sreaming and breaking up furniture. One sweet kid approached me to straighten my head out. I hit her full in the mouth. That convinced them to call my parents. I just couldn't face mom and pop. So I tried to kill myself by slashing my throat with a broken bottle. Crazy? You'd better believe it. I was on acid, librium, aspirin, antibiotics, pot and booze.

My folks went through hell on account of me. I was really rotten to them. They took me to a private place for teenage junkies and it cost them their life's savings. But they were really wonderful.

All this happened eight months ago and today I feel like a new person. I know now I was screwed up and stupid. I wouldn't go near a joint or a pill, let alone a sugar cube, for anything in the world. I am one of those people who shouldn't mess around with anything that will change the chemistry of my body. Even a glass of beer is off limits for me.

God gave me a second chance that some heads don't get. I'm going to spend the rest of my life helping kids who are goofed up on drugs and prove to God that I was worth saving.

Please print my letter so others who are in a bad way will know that they can make it back. If I did, anybody can. --- Garden City Joe

Dear Joe: Welcome home. You've told a story that only a person who has lived through it could tell. Thank you for writing.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious -- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key To Popularity." Send 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to this newspaper.

SeMo State University Name Change Official

CAPE GIRARDEAU — In 1873 it was established as Southeast Missouri Normal School. In 1919 it became Southeast Missouri State Teachers College. In 1946 It became Southeast Missouri State College.

Now, as it enters its 100th year of service to the state, it's Southeast Missouri State University. The Board of Regents made the name change official Thursday, acting under authority granted by a law passed during the last session of the legislature and signed by the governor.

The change becomes effective immediately.

Also Thursday, the board

. accepted the bid of Crites and Sailer Construction Co. of Cape Girardeau for the demolition and removal of Leming Hall at a cost of $16,500;

. approved salary increases for faculty and staff of the university averaging 5.5 per cent;

. approved an increase in room and board fees of $1 per week beginning with the second semester of the coming school year and a second increase of $1 per week to go into effect for the 1973-74 school year;

. granted permission for university officials to negotiate a contract with Missouri Utilities for the exchange of power in emergency situations;

. reaffirmed its commitment to equal employment opportunities;

. appointed a committee to recommend consultants to make a long-range property - utilization study for the university; and

. heard a report on the difficulties in getting the power plant addition into operation.

Other reports presented to the regents included those which dealth with new guidelines for submitting the University's budget proposal for the coming fiscal year, the request of the university for a supplemental appropriation at the forthcoming special session of the legislation, the first phase of the repair of Academic Hall, and the recommendations of a consultant of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for establishment of a six-year program on the campus.

The board also reviewed the revised faculty handbook and approved the appointment of new faculty members as replacement.

Leming Hall, a women's dormitory and landmark on the campus, has been in a poor state of repair for a number of years and is to be razed to make way for a new student union building. Crites and Sailer is to complete the job and clear the land within 60 days of official notification that it has the contract for thyproject.

Dr. Mark F. Scully, president of Southeast Missouri State, said during a board discussion of progress on the new student union, it was brought out that a State Planning Office report on a survey of physical facilities had found the building unsafe and recommended the demolition of Leming "regardless of whether anything was put there or not."

Dr. Scully also noted that many of the furnishings in Leming Hall will be utilized in other residence halls and that the board approved a procedure for disposing of those furnishings which the university does not wish to continue using.

Individual items, not large quantity lots, will be offered at first. The remaining items will then be offered to used furniture dealers and anything that is left will then be disposed of by public sale.

The increase in room and board fees approved by the regents will be the first in two and one-half years when it takes effect, according to Dr. Scully. "Due to rising costs, we just weren't able to make ends meet," Dr. Scully said.

According to Dr. Scully, the agreement to be worked out with Missouri Utilities will allow the college to share any excess power it might have with Missouri Utilities in times of peak loads, and in turn the private utility will provide additional power for the university campus when needed.

Dr. Scully said the board heard a lengthy report on the "affirmative action program" required for compliance with the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and then approved a resolution which reads:

"The Regents of Southeast Missouri State University do hereby reaffirm and state the policy of Equal Employment Opportunity. All necessary action shall be taken to ensure that applicants are employed, and that employees are treated during employment, without regard to their race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. The obligation to establish affirmative procedure to implement this policy shall rest with the President of the University.

Dr. Robert Foster, assistant to Dr. Scully, and dean of graduate studies, has been appointed the University's affirmative action program executive.

Durocher Takes Over

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON Associated
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leo Durocher says the Houston Astros can catch the Cincinnati Reds ... and Leo the Lip isn't talking through Harry Walker's hat.

The 66-year-old Durocher is wearing his own hat these days as manager of the Astros and his debut Sunday—one day after Houston fired Harry "The Hat" Walker—was a winning one by an 8-2 score over Montreal.

"The guys were all relaxed and happy," said Durocher, who was canned himself one month earlier by the Chicago Cubs. "It's been a long time since players, like most of the ballclub did, came up and said congratulations and let's get 25 more."

Even 25 more might not help the Astros, who remained eight games behind Cincinnati in baseball's National League West when the Reds trimmed Philadelphia 7-2.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles made it three in a row over Pittsburgh 7-4, Chicago battered San Francisco 9-3, the New York Mets walloped Atlanta 13-6 and St. Louis trounced Montreal 9-2.

Durocher, who managed the New York Giants to a comefrom-behind pennant against the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1951, said Cincinnati's "only weakness is that they have to lose and we have to win."

The Astros scored three runs in the second inning Sunday, three more in the third and Doug Rader hit a two-run homer in the eighth in support of Larry Dierker's eight-hit pitching.

Durocher said he had no plans to return to baseball until the past weekend.

"I was all set to go to Korea," he disclosed. "My wife and I had already taken our shots and were ready to take a couple of months' vacation. Lo and behold, at midnight Friday the telephone started ringing (Houston General Manager Spec Richardson) and it didn't stop until 3 a.m.

"I was very happy to get the call. This team has speed, good defense and power. I like a running ballclub, a hustling ballclub, and I like speed."

The Reds tagged Philadelphia's Wayne Twitchell for six extra-base hits in 5 1-3 innings, including two doubles and a triple by Pete Rose and a two-run homer by Denis Menke. Joe Morgan also homered for the Reds, who have won 12 of their last 15 games in pulling away from Houston.

Chris Cannizzaro lashed a tiebreaking two-run double with two out in the eighth inning as the Dodgers downed Pittsburgh. Despite their third consecutive setback, the Pirates still hold a 10-game lead over the Cubs.

Cannizzaro's double followed an intentional walk to Bill Russell. Earlier, Frank Robinson hit a two-run single and Bill Buckner socked a two-run homer for the Dodgers while Pittsburgh's Roberto Clemente also drove in a pair of runs with a single and sacrifice fly.

Shortstop Don Kessinger, who committed two damaging errors that helped San Francisco to a 3-0 lead, drilled a tiebreaking two-run single in the seventh as the Cubs overtook the Giants. Chicago wrapped it up with four runs in the eighth on Billy Williams' 28th homer and three consecutive basesloaded walks.

Good News For Bob Seagren

MUNICH (AP) — The United States won its first medal of the 20th Olympics today — a silver in small bore rifle shooting — and can win its first two golds tonight if American swimmers continue their assault on Olympic records.

America also has a solid chance for at least a bronze in women's diving.

Li-Ho-jun of North Korea broke both the Olympic and world records in the small bore rifle shoot with 599 out of a possible 600.

Vic Auer of North Hollywood, Calif., tied for the silver medal with Nicolae Rotaru of Romania with 598, which tied the old Olympic record.

Mark Spitz of Carmichael, Calif., sped through his 200-meter butterfly qualifying heat in 2:02.11, one of three Americans to shatter the old Olympic standard of 2:06.6 set by Australia's Kevin Berry in 1964. The other U.S. record-breakers in the event were Gary Hall of Garden Grove, Calif., timed in 2:03.70 and Robin Backhaus of Redlands, Calif., timed in 2:03.11.

In the men's 100-meter backstroke, the Olympic standard of 58.7 seconds set by East Germany's Roland Matthes in 1968, fell twice to Americans.

First, Mike Stamm of San Diego, Calif., was timed in 58.63 and then Mitch Ivey of San Jose, Calif., lowered the mark to 58.15. Matthes won his heat in 1:00.01.

Meanwhile, there was good news for pole vaulter Bob Seagren. The International Amateur Athletic Federation reversed itself and said he can use the pole with which he set his world record. Seagren took the news calmly.

The men's 200-meter butterfly and 400-meter freestyle relay are the premier events of today's program, along with women's three-meter springboard diving and 200-meter individual medley.

Spitz, the bronzed and mustachioed California who holds the world butterfly record of 2:01.53, will be going after the first two of seven gold medals he expects to take home—as he is constantly being reminded.

Micki King, an Air Force captain from Pontiac, Mich., stands in third place in the springboard diving with 289.14 points. She trails two Swedish blondes, Ulrika Knape, with 292.59 points, and Agneta Henriksson, with 290.79.

The strongest U.S. hope in the women's 200 individual medley was Lynn Vidali of San Francisco.

In another prime final today, the U.S. women's gymnasts appeared to be out of medal contention. The American girls stood in fifth place, although led by a dazzling performance by 19-year-old Cathy Rigby. The Soviet Union was in first place.

The first gold medal winners of the Games were Ragnar Skanaker, a 38-year-old Swede who won the free pistol shoot with a record 567 of a possible 600 points, and Poland's Zygmunt Smalcerz, world flyweight weightlifting champ, who hoisted 744.05 pounds.

The IAAF banned Seagren's slender, green pole for Olympic use earlier this summer, saying it had not been available to athletes elsewhere in the world at least one year before the Games.

But George Moore, maker of the poles, appeared before the IAAF Sunday and argued: "Every world-class athlete who could possibly have come to the Games had access to them late last year."

The IAAF decided he was right.

The Missouri State High School Activities Association made a costly move by transfering the class L regional basketball tournament from Sikeston to Poplar Bluff last season.

In the association's financial report of regional basketball tournaments, it showed that the move cost the MSHSAA $1,346.80.

Official reports on the reason for the move was that the association wanted to pass the event around, but in recent years Poplar Bluff and Sikeston have been the only two schools to host the event.

Many felt that the reason for the move was a controversy that arose out of the finals of the 1971 event that involved Sikeston and Dexter. Officials failed to hear the final buzzer as Dexter was making a come from behind effort to upend the Bulldogs and sank a shot after the final horn had sounded that would have put them in the state tournament. The official timer ruled that the shot was taken after the final gun.

Poplar Bluff grossed $2,891 last season while Sikeston took in $7,700, which was the tops in the state for the year in 1971. The MSHSAA share from last season's event was $578.20 while it gained $1,925 from Sikeston and the participating schools also had larger shares.

The financial report showed that MSHSAA gained money overall in the Class M and S regionals while a drop from 1971 was recorded in class L.

If the MSHSAA is genuinely true in their statement about passing the event around, I wonder where it will go this season. Let's see ... there's Kennett, Dexter, Charleston, Perryville and Ste. Genevieve.

Wise Helps Self

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Hard-luck Rick Wise, loser of 10 one-run decisions, took matters into his own hands in a laugher for the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday.

The 6-foot-2, bespectacled right-hander slapped a threerun double climaxing a six-run Cards first inning that pulverized the San Diego Padres 9-2.

Wise's seven-hit victory, his 16th complete game of the campaign, followed losses by 3-2 to the Padres and 1-0 to the Los Angeles Dodgers during the past two weeks.

"It's good we win, that's all," commented the snakebitten pitcher, who fanned seven and intentionally walked the Padres' Nate Colbert in the leadoff inning.

"Sometimes you've got to help yourself," added Wise, 1214, who smacked a Fred Norman delivery over the head of Padres left fielder Leron Lee.

"Norman tried to turn the ball over on a fast ball," said Wise, whose hit followed still another walk, to Dal Maxvill. "The ball got out over the middle of the plate. I was just trying to meet it."

Jerry Morales and Dave Roberts opened the game with singles for San Diego, but Wise fanned Leron Lee as Roberts stole second. Then Wise intentionally passed Colbert before fanning Clarence Gaston and inducing Derrel Thomas to ground out.

San Diego broke through for its runs in the third when Morales and Colbert doubled around a Lee triple, but afterward Wise yielded only two singles.

"When games are close, sometimes you have to have finesse to get by," said Wise. "In a game like this you don't have to be as fine; you can afford to challenge the man at the plate.

"The trouble is you can't say when you're going to get a laugher. You just have to go with what you get out there. You better make sure you know what you're doing."

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Favorites Ilie Nastase and Olga Morozova won the singles titles Sunday in the $15,000 Estern Grass Courts Open Championships at Orange Lawn Tennis Club here.

Mrs. Morozova, 22, became the first Russian to ever win in the United States win the top prize of a $3,500 Renault sports coup. The match, interrupted by a heavy shower after the first when she beat Russian teammate Marina Kroshina in a long three-set struggle, 6-2, 6-7, 7-5.

SEMO Athletes Brighten Murray State Grid Outlook

MURRAY, Ky. -- Murray State's football coaching staff decided in spring practice that the Racers' best chance for success this fall would be to develop a strong running game.

After all, tailback Rick Fisher, the Ohio Valley Conference's leading rusher would be back, as well as fullback George Greenfield, the league's third leading rusher. And with but one exception, the offensive front line would be intact.

Thus far this fall, last spring's coaching decision has looked like a good one. Fisher has been running with the same razz-ma-tazz as last year when he averaged 107 yards a game. Greenfield, while reporting for practice overweight, has been constantly slimming down and looks as if, by the Racers' first game, he'll be the same quick, slashing runner as last fall. And there have been a couple surprise developments in the running game. Jim Engel, Greenfield's backup last season, has been most consistent, and tailback Don Clayton, out of action with an injury since one of his first practice sessions at Murray two years ago, has run brilliantly at times. Clayton scored 30 touchdowns his senior season at Malden, Mo., High School. A fifth running back, freshman Bob Marshall, has also performed well.

A major reason for the good running game has been the steady performance of the offensive line, which Coach Bill Furgerson thinks may be the best at Murray in some years. Mike Perry, a second-team all-conference center last season, has anchored the line with steady performances and good leadership. Sophomore Charlie Carpenter, a part-time starter at guard last season, may be one of the OVC's best tackles this year.

The Racer passing game hasn't been tested much thus far, but offensive coach Carl Oakley says he expects some problems. "We haven't worked much on pass protection and quarterback Tom Pandolfi is showing his sophomore inexperience at times, although he is beginning to think better."

The most consistent receiver has been tightend Bill Farrell, a 6-5, 225-pounder, who teamed with Pandolfi on several long passes last season.

The Racer defense, hard hit by graduation, has also performed surprisingly well. Linebacker Bruce Farris, who missed both last season and spring practice, is rounding into shape and if his injured shoulder holds up should be invaluable to the unit. Bill Fryer, another linebacker, has also performed steadily as has defensive end Joe Echert.

Jerry Stanely, moved from defensive end to tackle in the spring, has used his quickness to great advantage at the position. In fact, the entire unit should be extremely quick, though small.

The Racers ended two-a-day practice sessions Friday and got through the grueling period without a serious injury. A major, game-type scrimmage was scheduled Saturday.

Murray will open the season with Wester Carolina, Sept. 9 at Murray.

Ballwin Make Legion Series

Baseball reigns supreme in the community of Ballwin, Mo. after their American Legion squad made the World Series over the weekend. Lafayette high school, the state prep school baseball champs, are from this St. Louis county community and the squad is virtually the same as that that eliminated Kelly from this season's state tournament and capped their third straight state championship.)

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP) — Ballwin, Mo., earned a berth in the American Legion World Series by defeating Rapid City, S. D., 13-2 Sunday night in the Central Plains Regional baseball tournament.

Going undefeated in the double elimination regional, the hard-hitting Ballwin squad posted 19 hits in mauling the South Dakotans, including a 377-foot home run by Steve Viefhaus, only the second ball to be hit out of Duncan Field in more than 30 years of Legion play.

Ballwin also defeated Rapid City Saturday when Dave Tuttle threw a no-hitter.

In Sunday night's game, Rapid City gained a 2-0 lead as Tom McNulty held Ballwin to two hits in the first four innings. McNulty then was forced to leave the game abiding by a Legion restriction limiting pitchers to 12 innings in three days.

Ballwin jumped on four other Rapid City pitchers, including a four-run splurge in the sixth and six runs in the eighth.

Rapid City had ousted Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 3-2, earlier Sunday for the right to meet Ballwin. Rapid City 002000000—252 Ballwin 00001426x—13191

50-Day Duck Season

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri duck hunters will have a 50-day season from Oct. 29 through Dec. 17, the state Conservation Commission says.

All may be mallards. The daily limit will be four and a possession limit of eight.

The commission set the waterfowl seasons within the framework handed down by the Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife.

Because of a continued slump in populations of redhead and canvasback ducks, the season will be closed on both species.

Hunters may take no more than two wood ducks and have in possession no more than four.

This year's Canada goose season will be similar to that of 1971.

The blue, snow and whitefronted goose season will run Oct. 29 through Jan. 6 with a daily bag and possession limit of five or which not more than two may be white-fronts.

Limites and season vary in several special zones.

Swan Lake zone, where the bulk of Missouri's Canadan goose hunting is done, will open Nov. 1 and run either until a Canada goose quota of 14,000 has been reached or 70 days, whichever comes first.

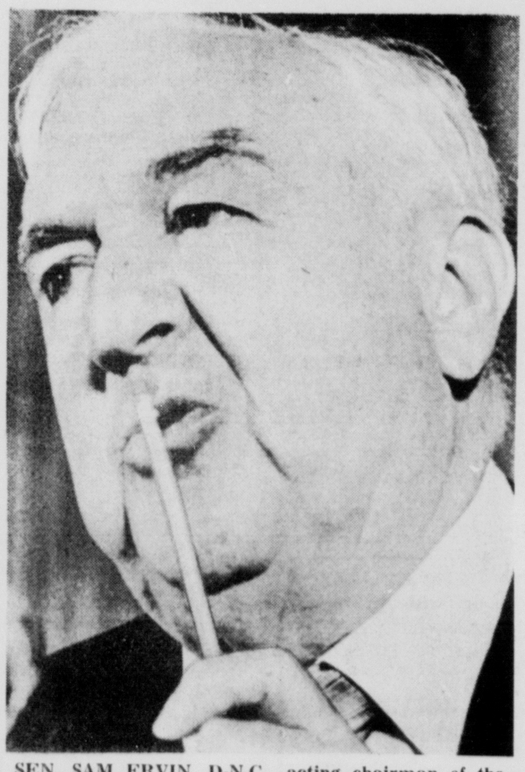

Daily limit is one Canada or two white-fronted geese or one of each. The possession limit is two of each.

The Canada goose season in the Squad Creek zone in northwest Missouri will be Oct. 29 through Nov. 27 with a daily limit of one Canada or two white-fronted geese or one of each and a possession limit of two each.

In the lower Mississippi zone, the Canada goose season will be Dec. 1 through Jan. 20, with a daily limit of two Canadas or two white-fronted geese or one of each and a possession limit of four Canadas or two of each.

In the rest of the state, the Canada goose season will be Oct. 29 through Nov. 18 with a daily limit of one Canada or two white-fronted geese.

The commission set two other seasons. Coots and mergansers will open Oct. 29 and run through Dec. 17. The daily coot limit is 15 wich 30 in possession. It is five daily and 10 in possession on mergansers.

Taiwan Wins Series

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Lin Hsin-chen won't be back as Taiwan's manager next year, but Little League fans will be mighty surprised if the Asian republic doesn't have a survivor in next year's eightteam world series.

Taiwan shut out Hammond, Ind., 6-0 in Saturday's Little League title game for its third championship in four years.

Lin, 34, a former baseball star in Taiwan, played a key part in the victory, then told a newsman through an interpreter that he had to give up his career as a Little League manager.

"I have to spend more time at my drug store," he said.

Lin's major contribution was refusing to believe a statement by Hammond's manager that right-hander George Leonakis would start the title game.

Lin was certain that lefty John Davis, Hammond's opening game pitcher was going to start, and practiced against its own left handers before Saturday's championship.

When Davis started, Taiwan was ready for him. After getting two runners on base, but failing to score in the first, the Taiwan boys kept hitting, scoring twice in the second on a homer, double, single and a walk.

"I was sure they would start the left-hander," said Lin. "We met after he (Davis) pitched the first game. We're not used to left-handers in Taiwan.

"I told the players to keep calm. Whether he's left-handed or right-handed he has to pitch the ball over the plate."

Once Taiwan scored its first pair of runs, the contest was over. Chen Chih-shun, who won Taiwan's opening game 9-0 on a one-hit shutout, was just as masterful—giving up four hits, striking out 12 and walking none.

DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Tied by Bill Harvey of Greensboro, N.C. after 15 holes, Terry Mauney of Charlotte, N.C., finally pulled ahead and won the Southern 500 Invitational Golf Tournament by three strokes in the final round Sunday.

Mauney got intro trouble on No. 17 when he knocked his tee shot into the water. But he came back with a birdie on the 18th to give him a par 72 and a 54-hole total of 211 for the three-day tournament at the 6,300-yard Darlington Country club course.

U.S. Savings Bonds help keep today's plans from becoming tomorrow's broken dreams.

We all have plans.

We plan for a vacation, plan to buy a boat, or a house; or send our children through college.

And, in order to keep those plans from becoming broken dreams, we need money.

That's where the Payroll Savings Plan comes in handy. When you join where you work, an amount you specify is set aside from your paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

It's an easy way to save money and collect some interest at the same time.

Keep today's plans alive. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. You won't end up with a bunch of broken dreams tomorrow.

Now E Bonds pay 5½% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Nikola Tesla was an American inventor whose discoveries were invaluable in pioneering electrical technology. The World Almanac notes that he invented an induction motor in 1887, the first effective method of using alternating current, and an AC motor in 1892. Tesla designed a power generating system at Niagara Falls and the apparatus needed to transmit this energy.

the people company

It's the age of computer companies and manufacturing companies — of punch-card correspondence and mass production. And maybe that's not all bad, at least in some businesses.
When it comes to our own profession, though, we're against this modern trend. We still think of ourselves as a "people company" — a place where helping is still a personal gesture of human caring.
